Landfill Expansion Blocked by Margin of One Vote

SINGING CHRISTMAS TREE. Members of the First Assembly of God Church are presenting nightly through Saturday, at 7 o'clock and 8 o'clock, a half hour of Christmas music under the direction of Bob Bohn, church music director, as a holiday observance. The "tree" is located in the parking lot of the Koinonia (Fellowship) center at 24th Street and Madison Avenue directly across from the main Granite City Post Office. This is the fourth year the church has presented the "singing tree," which is 30 feet high and can hold up to 65 vocalists.

Combine City-Town Polling Places

New election procedure in which Granite Cityans will be able to vote next spring for both city and township officials at the same polling place and on the same ballot was authorized by City Council members sitting as the Town Board Monday night.

The new system will be a complete reversal of that in past city-township elections in which voters balloted for city officers at one polling place, then went to another to vote for candidates for township posts.

The new plan of voting requiring only one polling place for both city and township balloting will result in considerable savings. Under the new program, five election judges at each precinct will serve where ten were required under the old system.

The council action came as potential candidates for 10 Granite City municipal offices and 25 township posts in the Quad-City area began circulating petitions in preparation for opening of the 1973 election filing period on Dec. 26.

Two township offices—supervisor and assessor—will be subject to election in Granite City

Township in the April 3 election. In the city balloting, voters will elect a mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and seven aldermen.

In approving the new plan of balloting for the 1973 city-township election, the Town Board concurred in a suggestion by William Schooley, township attorney, that the city and township elections be combined.

Schooley told the board that recent changes in Illinois election statutes permit such a

An attempt to approve a 22-year special use permit for expanding Mal Landfill on Chouteau Island was defeated by the Madison County Board Wednesday by one vote.

Although the board members present voted 21 to 7 in favor of expanding the landfill, the count was one short of the 22 votes which would have constituted three-fourths of the 29 board members, the number required for passage.

The three-fourths vote was necessary in order to override the recommendation of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals that the special use permit not be granted because of environmental considerations.

Discussion by the board members labeled the landfill as everything from "God's blessing to this area" to a program which would cause the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to reconsider funding all major sewer and other federally funded program in Madison County.

Albert E. Doerr of South Roxana, who called the landfill "God's blessing," said that the majority of people in the southwestern portion of the county favor the landfill staying in operation.

Residents of the area "favor the landfill as a necessary project," Doerr stated.

At the extreme other end of the fence was Mrs. Sibyl H.

Belliss of East Alton who said the board would only infuriate HUD by approving the project before a Madison County land use plan is completed and adopted.

"HUD holds the keys to an infinite number of projects in the county including a number of sewer projects which are waiting for funds," she commented.

Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City Township supervisor and chairman of the board, said it was his understanding that HUD was referring to the

'Christmas Gift' -- Some Families' Sewer Fees Will End

By HARRY BARNES

Press-Record Staff Writer

A program under which Granite City will discontinue immediately the collection of $2.50 monthly sewer rental fees from approximately 4,300 households in the original Nameoki sewer area was approved by the City Council Monday night.

The action came after City Treasurer Paul Rutledge told council members that the city has accumulated enough money to pay off the balance of a $1,335,000 bond issue sold 19 years ago to finance sewer construction in the Nameoki area.

The end of fee collections for the original "Nameoki Area Sewer Fund" will mean a savings of $10,750 per month, or $129,000 a year, to the estimated 4,300 families in the affected area.

Council members went along fully with the plan suggested by Rutledge and commended the treasurer on his management of the sewer funds and the investment of sewer fee revenues in interest-bearing accounts.

Rutledge explained that the program will involve a drive to collect about $13,000 in delinquent sewer fees within the area. He said the Nameoki Area Sewer Fund, once the delinquencies are collected, will have sufficient money to pay off an $881,000 balance still owed on the original bond issue of $1,335,000.

He said $581,000 of the debt will be paid in June next year and the balance of $300,000 paid in June 1974. All of the debt could be retired next year, because the money will be available, but a certain number of the bonds were not callable before June 1, 1974, Rutledge said.

Retirement of the last of the bonds in 1974 will be 20 years in advance of the maturity date. Under the original schedule the bond issue was amortized over a 40-year period with the last of the bonds due in June 1994.

The treasurer emphasized particularly that the cessation of sewer fees will apply only to those residents living in the original Nameoki Sewer Area and does not affect the households receiving sewer service in Particular Sewer Area No. 2 and Particular Sewer Area No. 3.

The original Nameoki Sewer Area embraces the area of the former village of Nameoki which was annexed by Granite City in 1949. Following construction of sewers in the original Nameoki Sewer Area in 1954, subsequent sewer expansions were financed by additional bond issues in parts of the Nameoki area designated as Particular Area No. 2 and Particular Area No. 3, Rutledge explained.

The households in the two particular areas will not be affected by the cutoff of sewer fees and will continue to pay the monthly fees. These residents of the original area whose sewer use fees will be terminated will continue to pay the pollution plant fee.

In his message to the council, outlining his plan for retirement of the sewer bonds, Rutledge said:

"For the past several months we have been watching very closely the accumulation of money in the Nameoki Area Sewer Fund. We are approaching the time when enough money will be available to retire all outstanding bonds in this issue."

"As treasurer, it is my desire, on the advice of the city attorney and assistant city attorney, to stop collections in the Nameoki Area Sewer Fund at a point where it will be necessary to collect all delinquent accounts in order to have enough money to retire this bond issue."

"It is my pleasure to report to you that I feel we have reached the point where we should stop collections until all delinquent accounts are resolved. Therefore, I suggest that the City Council, by resolution, order a moratorium on sewer billing in this area until all delinquent accounts are resolved."

He also requested that this resolution include authorization for the city clerk to have a thorough and complete audit made of these accounts and published in the Granite City Press-Record.

"I request that this resolution include authorization for the billing of all delinquent accounts in the Nameoki Area Sewer Fund at the end of December, 1972."

"I request your concurrence in publishing in the Granite City Press-Record the name, address, account number, and amount of all delinquent accounts not paid by Jan. 31, 1973. After the publication I will personally take the responsibility for instituting court action."

"I must call to your attention that some delinquent accounts are secured by signed agreements. These accounts will not be published if payments are current. Other accounts are secured by court judgments, but have not been paid. If these have not been paid by Jan. 31, 1973 they will be published."

"It is important that all those involved in the Nameoki Area Sewerage District be advised that in the final accounting, after all delinquent accounts are resolved, it may be necessary to institute billing for the balance required to retire these bonds. I regret that it must be done this way, but every effort must be made to collect all delinquent accounts."

"I think everyone involved in city government today will agree with this."

"On June 30, 1973, all but three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) in Nameoki Area Sewerage Revenue Bonds, can be retired. The balance, three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00), can not be retired until June 1, 1974, as established by the Bond Ordinance Number 1516."

lished by the Bond Ordinance Number 1516.

"The billing for the Particular Area Number 2 Sewerage Fund and the Particular Area Number 3 Sewerage Fund will continue. The bonds in these two areas will not be retired for a considerable length of time. The billing for the sewerage treatment plant will also continue."

Particular Area 2 is billed on the same bill as the Nameoki Area Sewerage. The only distinction is the account numbers. Particular Area #2 account numbers are: 5000 through 5917, and the 5000 series with "SS" behind the number. This will be confusing."

Walker Will Require Financial Disclosures

Governor-elect Daniel Walker said yesterday he will require public financial disclosures by heads and key employees of all major state departments and agencies. He plans a three-member Board of Ethics headed by defeated Rep. Abner Mikva.

Meanwhile, U. S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor refused to delay the Jan. 3 start of the trial of former Gov. Otto Kerner, charged with bribery, conspiracy and income tax evasion.

In an unrelated case, highway bid rigging and fraud were charged Tuesday in federal indictments at Danville of nine firms and four of their officers.

Christmas Food Baskets for 523 Families Tomorrow

They didn't look like elves. But they showed many of the same helpful qualities that Santa's legendary small workers reputedly display as Christmas approaches.

The volunteers' assignment Wednesday and today is to assist the Salvation Army move quantities of canned goods and toys from the Citadel storage area to a packaging center where gift baskets of food will be distributed Friday to 523 needy families in the Quad-Cities.

Pickup services also were provided by the Guardsmen, whose olive drab vehicles buzzed through the community collecting additional donated canned goods at several locations including Kentucky Fried Chicken on Johnson Road and the base chapel at the Granite City Army Installation.

With only two days remaining before the scheduled "Tree of Lights" conclusion, the Salvation Army still is short of its goal to meet the needs this year.

According to a progress report released today by Mrs. Alvenette Metcalf, "Tree of Lights" chairman, 347 of the 480 lights of the

EPA Suggests Amended Grain Handling Controls

Copley News Service
Springfield—Illinois farmers, faced with serious financial problems because of pending anti-pollution regulations, have found a champion in the state's Environmental Protection Agency.

The EPA has petitioned the rule-making Pollution Control Board to amend its regulations covering air pollution from grain handling operations, and asked the PCB to set hearing dates as soon as possible on the proposed changes.

In a covering letter to the board, EPA director William Blaser noted that while 18 public hearings were held before the present regulations were adopted last April, most of the extensive testimony involving soybean and grain processing came from industrial spokesmen who testified chiefly about how the regulations would affect their milling operations and steam generating facilities.

"Unfortunately," Blaser noted, no testimony was received on behalf of farmers, or owners and operators of rural elevators. These groups have since convinced the EPA that they face unreasonable and unnecessary hardships if forced to comply with the regulations as they now stand.

Under these current rules, every grain handling operation in the state including farmers handling grains on their own farms, would have to apply for an operating permit by next March 1 and if not already in compliance with regulations, minimal effect upon pollution levels other than in the immediate vicinity of the equipment.

Though cost analysis shows that complying with the regulations would cost approximately one tenth cent a bushel which is a small figure compared to a $1.34 gross price per bushel, the tenth of a cent becomes much larger weighed against the 5.4 profit margin existing "in an extremely competitive material grain market."

If adopted, the amendments would exempt farmers from particulate emission standards and limitations, and from fugitive dust regulations, for existing facilities. Grain dryers and grinders used on farms would have to be at least 500 feet from the nearest residence, except the farmer's own, but if the distance were less, simple screening would be required. Elevators outside a municipality would be exempt with the provision that those already having control equipment would have to keep it in good operating order, and "good house-keeping" would be required, including use of "simple preventive devices such as socks and sleeves" on pipes and spouts.

Existing elevators inside a municipality would have until Sept. 1, 1974, to add controls on dryers and grinders, and then the controls would be identical with those already required by regulations which have been in effect since 1968, chiefly screens or filters.

Existing elevators in municipalities would have to obtain operating permits by next July 1. All new installations inside or outside municipalities would have to obtain permits and meet all standards.

Exempted from the special exemptions would be elevators in Cook county which has nearly twice the grain storage capacity of any other county in the state. They would have to have permits by July 1, 1975, and controls installed by Dec. 31 of next year, and would be required to meet all standards.

Pontoon May Buy Pool at Gaslight

Pontoon Beach is investigating the possibility of purchasing the swimming pool and playground at Gaslight Walk Apartments and establishing the village's first park there.

Carl Hackney, chairman of the finance committee, suggested at a meeting last night that the board seek proposals on the pool, land and playground equipment there as the village is in need of a park and recreational facilities for children. The parks and finance committees are to report to the board after proposals have been obtained.

The hard-fought issue of business licenses in the village apparently has been resolved. Hackney reported that of 12 businesses which had not purchased licenses last week, eight had purchased the licenses since then, two were expected to purchase half-year licenses and the remaining two were filing protest forms against purchasing licenses.

The protests will be handled by attorneys for the village and the businesses and are expected to be settled without court fights.

The question of pay raises for the village's four full-time policemen was not raised at the meeting because of legal questions concerning the wage-price freeze, it was indicated after the meeting. When the questions have been resolved, the issue will be brought to the board, a trustee said.

Christmas Certificates For 'Y' Memberships

The Tri City Area YMCA annually offers a Christmas certificate with the purchase of a new or renewed membership.

Kent D. Dunn, membership director, commented today that "the gift of fun and fitness year-round at the YMCA is a really special gift of love."

A new year membership needs to be developed and the YMCA is a place where youths and adults alike can participate in activities or as a family in reaching the goal. Programs throughout the year in gym and swim activities are provided along with special interest groups and programs.

"Details on all YMCA programs and memberships or this special Christmas certificate may be obtained at the YMCA, 6200 or by calling 876-7200 and asking for Betty Fuchs, membership clerk, or Kent D. Dunn, membership director," he concluded.

Outline Dobrey Relief Program

An emergency drainage program designed to relieve flooding conditions in the Dobrey Slough area of Nameoki Township will be outlined in a meeting here next Wednesday night by John Guillo, chief engineer of the Illinois Division of Waterways.

The meeting, to be held in the offices of the East Side State Sanitary District, 1707 Madison Ave., at 7 p.m., has been arranged at Guillo's request. He announced earlier this week that plans for a temporary drainage relief program have been completed.

Mrs. Helen Hawkins, 2600 Angela Drive, a resident of the Dobrey area, and leader of a group campaigning for drainage improvements, said Guillo informed her that the plan calls for draining stormwater from the Dobrey Slough area into the Nameoki drainage channel.

Work is to start on the project as soon as weather permits, Guillo said.

Mrs. Hawkins said invitations to attend Wednesday night's meeting have been sent to five trustees of the levee district, to State Sen. Sam Vardala, Edwardsville, and State Representative Horace Calvo, Granite City, Leland Kennedy, Alton, and Robert Walters, Alton.

Members of the Intergovernmental Committee of the Granite City Council also will be asked to attend.

The program to be outlined by Guillo will not supplant a more extensive $4.5 million improvement proposed by Governor Richard B. Ogilvie, but will serve as a temporary relief for the Dobrey area until the larger program can be completed. Planning and financing of the larger project is expected to take about 18 months.

Offices to Close Early

All offices in the city hall in Granite City will close at noon Friday, it was announced today. Offices will reopen at the regular scheduled time on Tuesday.

MORE ABOUT Food Baskets

Tree have been turned on, indicating a total of $8,765 has been received.

Mrs. Metcalf said a minimum of $12,000 is needed by Christmas Eve to meet the obligations incurred by the Salvation Army in its 1972 Yuletide aid program.

Persons not yet having made a contribution may do so by depositing donations in the street corner clock collection stands maintained by the Salvation Army or by mailing their gift to "Tree of Lights," Box 338, Granite City, Ill. 62040, the drive chairman said.

In addition to the 323 families scheduled to receive food baskets tomorrow, 81 families were "adopted" by other groups and a total of 1,000 names and applications were cleared through the Salvation Army office, Captain Ronald Kerley, local commander, said today.

The "Clothe-A-Child" program, also a key activity of the Salvation Army at Christmastime, this week provided 327 local school children with a warm coat, new shoes, or other essential clothing, depending on the need of the individual child.

This year, a different method was used in the clothing program. Capt. Kerley explained, with parents or guardians receiving a requisition order and the child to a designated store themselves to purchase the item.

Previously, Salvation Army personnel and volunteers escorted the children in groups on the shopping trip.

"We think the new approach to handling the 'Clothe-A-Child' program is a better one," Capt. Kerley said.

project created a better feeling within a family when parents took their own youngsters. And the storekeepers seemed to agree with us," the Salvation Army officer said.

More than 1,100 toys will be distributed Friday at the Salvation Army toy shop, along with the food baskets, Capt. Kerley said.

About 30 women from area churches and the Salvation Army are working on delivering the baskets today and arranging the toy display as fast as the Guardians deliver the supplementary collections to the Citadel at 19th Street and Grand Avenue.

Sergeant First Class Anthony P. Culbert of Granite City said the service provided locally is part of a Guard program of helping in community projects.

During the weekend and throughout this week, Guardians from Headquarters Co. have been assisting Cetus Wilson, an American Sign Language employee, whose efforts on behalf of the Sioux Indians at Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota has attracted wide support.

Twenty-five Guardians equipped with eight vehicles picked up donations of clothing and other items in Madison and St. Clair counties, delivered them to the warehouse in Caseyville and helped load the trailers which left today for South Dakota.

Guard Capt. Edwards said late last month the men assisted local Tri-Hi-Y groups in a parade and are giving similar assistance to area Boy Scouts.

Cut in Gas Costly to GC Steel

Granite City Steel Co. was required to curtail its normal use of natural gas by 75% during the prolonged winter cold spell and this had a marked effect on certain operations, the Press-Record learned today.

The company is this area's largest gas user.

It was most noticeable during the cold spell to unload incoming raw materials - including iron, coal and coke empty - with normal speed and efficiency.

The materials arrived frozen in their railroad cars at a time when there was no gas to fire the company's thawing facilities.

Consequent delays in handling of these materials were responsible for a substantial reduction in the output of blast furnace pig iron which, in turn, reduced production of steel.

Granite City Steel also is in the process of installing a new raw materials cars around and send the furnace pig iron which, in turn, reduced production of steel.

The fuel oil burned to operate some of the company's major production facilities during the cold spell is a more costly source of energy than the gas it replaced.

Another aspect of the natural gas shortage is the discomfort suffered by employees of industrial plants like Granite City Steel when they have to supply far some of the gas-burning heaters or "salamanders" used to keep production departments warm in the winter, a spokesman noted.

Employees in a number of departments are working under "very adverse conditions" after the cold spell set in and the company's supply of natural gas was curtailed.

GC Council Sets Salary Maximums for 7 Jobs

An ordinance establishing maximum salaries for seven positions in the Granite City treasurer's office and city clerk's office was approved by the City Council Monday night following a lengthy debate in which some aldermen said they believed the list should be expanded.

Steve Basarich, chairman of the council's Finance Committee, explained that the ordinance introduced Monday night was "only the starting point to set up a regulated salary program for city hall employees." He said other salary maximums will be established in subsequent ordinances covering other offices.

The maximum salaries were set after the council adopted in November an ordinance fixing a $400 minimum salary for city hall clerical employees.

The ordinance fixes the following maximums: Deputy city clerk, $397.50; payroll clerk, $372.50; accounts payable clerk, $372.50; accounting machine operator, $372.50; head sewer billing clerk and bookkeeper, $397.50; accounting clerk, $372.50 and sewer department cashier, $372.50.

Mayor Donald Partney protested that the position of his office secretary was not included in the ordinance, and Chief of Police Ronald Veizer said he believed the women clerks in his office also should be included.

Basarich noted that the maximums were established for job positions and not for individuals, and that other positions "will be added as we go along."

The ordinance as adopted Monday night provides a six months probationary period for new employees, during which period an employee may be terminated for failure to satisfy job requirements.

The starting salary will be determined by the employee's supervisor, based upon previous training and experience, according to the ordinance.

A period of two years will be required before a new employee is entitled to maximum salary rates as set in the bill unless previous training and experience merit a reduction in this time upon recommendation to the City Council by the supervisor.

Merit raises may be granted within the minimum and maximum limits by the supervisors upon six months review based upon the progress and initiative of the employee.

The council placed on file a suggestion by the Bi-State Development Agency that Granite City assign part of its federal revenue sharing funds to aid the Bi-State Transit system in a financial crisis threatening discontinuance of public transportation in the Illinois-Missouri metropolitan area.

E. J. Deimore, chairman of Bi-State's board of commissioners, said in a letter to council members that the Bi-State Transit

System will be forced to discontinue service, possibly in March, "unless you, the leader of one of the area's political subdivisions, utilize a portion of the funds available from the Local Government Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972 and arrive at a formula to develop and implement a regular allocation of these funds for public transportation."

In addition to filing the letter, the council approved a motion by Alderman Paul Schuler that the city send letters to all state legislators from this district asking that they work with state officials in a program to aid the transit system.

On a 7 to 4 roll call vote, the council agreed to permit representatives of the Aetna Insurance Co. to talk with city employees concerning a retirement plan. The request was opposed by some aldermen on grounds the same privilege should be extended to other insurance firms. The council also voted to ask

Revenue Sharing, Expansion of Plants in Regional Spotlight

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation) Federal revenue sharing became a reality as counties, municipalities and townships received a total of $1.5 million in this region through the new revenue sharing program. St. Clair County received $783,000, Madison County $419,000 and Monroe County $70,000.

Large amounts also were received by the city of East St. Louis, with $826,000, Alton with $306,000, Granite City with $251,000 and Belleville with $145,000.

Checks received are for the first half of 1972. Second checks, representing the last half of the year, are expected to be received next month.

A proposal to expand Anlin Co. of Illinois facilities at Hartford is being discussed with village officials. Anlin is planning to develop a sulphuric acid plant adjacent to its existing sulphur recovery control operations in the village.

The company and village officials are discussing feasibility of issuing up to $6.5 million in industrial revenue bonds to finance the expansion. Issuance of revenue bonds for such projects was recently determined to be constitutional by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Expansion of Shell Oil facilities at Wood River is expected to begin early next spring. Asphalt storage capacity at the plant will be increased by one million barrels.

Four tanks having a capacity of 250,000 barrels each will be constructed on a 25-acre tract. The additional storage will more than double the refinery's current capacity.

The expansion will insure adequate supplies of asphalt during peak use periods and is designed to accommodate general growth of this market.

Plans for a new secondary sewage treatment plant at Granite City may have to be revised in view of a recommendation order released by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

The EPA now questions the design of a facility having a capacity of 23 million gallons per day. Present facilities treat an average of about 12 million gallons per day, with over half of that amount being contributed by the Corn Sweeteners operation in Granite City.

With the closing of the Corn Sweeteners plant, a new treatment facility of the proposed size is unnecessary according to EPA officials. The city has been given 60 to 90 days to reply to the order.

A decision regarding the location of a new metropolitan airport has been postponed at least until new presidential appointees take office. FAA Chief John Shaffer along with Transportation Secretary John Volpe will be leaving office shortly. The new Transportation secretary appointed by President Nixon is Claude S. Brinegar, presently a senior vice-president of Union Oil Co.

A vote on the merger of three school districts in Wood River Township is expected next year or could come as early as February. The project has been discussed for some time and proposes to merge the East Alton and Wood River grade school districts with the East Alton-Wood River High School District.

The Mississippi River Festival plans to ask the Illinois Arts Council for $150,000 to help subsidize the fifth season of concerts beginning next summer.

A proposed budget of $885,000 which has been developed calls for a total of $288,000 in contributions. The Arts Council has proposed $200,000 per year to the festival over the past two years.

Merger proposals are being discussed by officials of Peoples Savings and Loan Association of Edwardsville and Citizens' Savings of Belleville. Assets of Peoples are $7.8 million, and Citizens' Savings has assets of about $105 million.

A bill requiring the state to sell $10.5 million in transportation bonds was reintroduced by State Senator Vadalabene. The measure is designed to replace funds lost in Madison and St. Clair Counties during the two-year freeze on road construction.

An identical bill failed to pass earlier this year after Governor Ogilvie said legislation was unnecessary. Governor-elect Walker has gone on record as in favor of the restoration of funds to this area.

A location in Fairview Heights is being sought for a new regional crime laboratory. State officials recommended the location for the new lab, which is to be available for use by police and fire agencies in Madison and St. Clair Counties. The lab is expected to be in operation by Feb. 1.

East Side Levee and Sanitary District trustees elected Romel Wilson of St. Clair County as president of the board, replacing William Ebersoldt of Venice, who had held the position for the past 16 months. In a reorganization meeting, the board also decided to seek a professional engineer for the District.

Interest in development of new banking facilities continues with the announcement that an application has been made to organize a new state bank in Fairview Heights. It is proposed to be called the Heritage Bank of St. Clair Square and is to have a capitalization of $1 million.

Ground has been broken in downtown Troy for a new building for the Troy Savings and Homestead Association. The new structure of modern design will encompass 1,600 square feet and will include drive-in and night depository facilities.

A report issued by the Federal Aviation Administration indicates that Civic Memorial Airport is one of the state's ten busiest airports. Nearly 150,000 take-offs and landings occurred at the airport during the year ended July 1.

Chicago's O'Hare Field, the world's most active, experienced a bout of 666,000 operations during the same period.

An option to purchase 96 acres of land for development into a new park will be exercised by city officials of Fairview Heights. The site is proposed to be annexed to the city.

Dr. Frank J. Sosnowski has resigned as dean of the new SIU School of Dental Medicine. Laclede Steel Co. announced proposed payment of an extra dividend of 50 cents per share of common stock.

Coolidge Has 150th Mat Win

A milestone was set Tuesday evening by the Coolidge Junior High School wrestlers as they earned the 150th wrestling victory in the history of the school. Coolidge was built in 1955 and wrestling began during the 1956-57 school year. The achievement came as Coach Bob Moske's ninth graders downed Roxana 43 to 30 at Coolidge.

Winners by pins for Coolidge were Dave Gaines, Ed Fetter, Steve Avedisian, Jerry Ropac, Doug Hartman and Mark Naglich. Decision winners were Alan Schuler and Bret Milton.

Undefeated Warrior Matmen Overpower Ritenour 37-18

The still undefeated Granite City High School matmen downed yet another rugged opponent this week as Ritenour fell 37-18 in a match there Tuesday afternoon.

The win was the seventh straight this season for the team and the 28th consecutive dual victory over the past three seasons.

Four Warriors remain undefeated for this season — Phil Lapinski (106), Kerry Johnson (119), Dennis Ragan (126) and Jack Schooley (167).

GCHS won eight matches and lost four, taking four pins and four decisions to Ritenour's two and two.

The Warriors were sweeping the meet through the first seven weight classes, 31-0, when Ritenour began to gain ground rapidly.

Pat MacMillan (98) pinned his opponent in 1:39, Lapinski won 9-1 and Rudy Pyle (112), a newcomer, won 4-1 as John Niebur failed to make weight.

Johnson earned a 1:04 pin, Ragan won 11-4, Dan Heath (132) 9-2 and Dave Rushing (138) downed his man in 59 seconds.

Then Ritenour took over, defeating Chet Fetter (145) 7-1 and Ken Nolan (152) 6-0. Schooley added points for the Warriors with a pin in 1:07 but they were losses by John Avedisian (185) in 3:48 and John McMillan (heavyweight) in 4:59.

"We are rugged in the lighter classes but obviously were hurting in most of the heavier weights," Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt commented. He is carefully eyeing the Junior varsity squad for prospects, he said.

The Junior varsity, also undefeated, downed Ritenour 37 to 15 and the sophomore squad won 35 to 23.

JV victors were Phil Shands (119), Terry Johnson (132), Don Hasty (138), Brian Gaines (145), Brian Wilson (155) and Don Heath (126). There were three draws.

The three Warrior squads will meet Springfield Southeast in a meet at 7 p.m. Friday in the high school gymnasium, the first time the two schools have met in dual competition. Southeast defeated Granite City in the sectional meet two years ago.

Coach Schmitt and his staff also are completing plans for the annual Granite City holiday wrestling tournament set for Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 27 and 28, in the GCHS gym.

MORE ABOUT Polling Places

combined election of city and township officials in the same polling places with the names of the candidates on one ballot within each city ward.

The city officials informed the board: "It is my opinion that the City Council, acting as the Board of Auditors, should designate election precincts, polling places and appoint judges. The precincts, polling places and judges may be the same as used for the election of city officials. In addition, the council may provide one ballot for city and township officials to be deposited in a common ballot box."

Incumbent Granite City aldermen whose terms expire next spring are expected to be among the first to file nominating petitions when the filing period opens at 8 a.m. Tuesday at the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens.

Stevens, who also serves as town clerk of Granite City Township, will receive nominating petitions from both city and township candidates. In neighboring Quad-City townships — Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau — candidates may file petitions with their respective town clerks.

Two candidates for mayor are circulating petitions. They are incumbent Mayor Donald Partney and Sixth Ward Alderman Paul Schuler, a drugist. Both have obtained petition blanks from Stevens' office.

Stevens also will seek reelection and is circulating petitions in preparation for filing next week. City Treasurer Paul Rutledge also will be a candidate for reelection. Both Stevens and Rutledge are now serving by appointment.

Since Schuler's campaign for mayor will leave his aldermanic post open, three candidates already are reported in the field for that office. They include Arshag Asterian, Earl Baker and Richard Fry. Fry is a former alderman.

Roy Poulos and Walter Padgug have obtained petitions of candidacy for alderman of Ward Three, an office now held by Poulos.

The possibility of opposition in the aldermanic race in Ward Seven also developed this week when petition blanks were obtained by incumbent Alderman Thomas Boker, and Ronald Coleman.

In Ward Two, incumbent Alderman Frank Greenwald has obtained petition forms, while Melvin "Red" Hill, an officer of the Bellemakers Union, also picked up petition at Stevens' office.

Petitions also were in circulation this week for R. E. Robertson of Ward Four, William Dallas of Ward Five, all in

County Returning Collection Fees to Other Taxing Bodies

MORE ABOUT Landfill

Funds held by Madison County — illegally, according to a ruling by the state supreme court — to cover the cost of tax collection for all taxing bodies in the county are being sent back to the taxing bodies.

The County Board voted yesterday at Edwardsville to return the funds rather than continue county action to try and collect for the amount expended for the collection of taxes.

The attempt to charge each county taxing agency a portion of the tax funds on a pro-rated basis was made necessary by the 1970 Illinois Constitution, which outlawed use of township tax collectors.

Circuit Judge James Monroe ruled against the county's plan to keep a portion of each agency's taxes to cover collection costs. The county was left with the collection cost and no means of being reimbursed.

Nicholas Byron, state attorney, told the board it could either return the money owed Venice Township and other townships and agencies, or could appeal the decision to a higher court.

Judge Monroe, in his ruling, ordered all money held from agencies filing the suit returned within 30 days.

The order did not affect those taxing bodies which were not named in the suit, Byron indicated.

Byron said if the board chose to fight with the taxing agencies not named in the first suit, he would use a different method of opposing suits than the former state attorney, Roland Griffith Jr.

The county might be able to keep the funds, but the chances of winning the case would be slim, Byron said.

John Kraynak, county auditor, said the funds now are in interest-drawing accounts and should be left there as long as possible.

Kraynak said the county could keep the interest, about $11,000, since it would be such a small amount if divided among all of the taxing districts that no single agency would bother to sue for it. "In the financial plan, the county is in, the money surely would help," he commented.

On a motion by Wood River Township Supervisor Roger Ehle, the board agreed to return the funds to all county taxing agencies and instructed Byron not to file an appeal to Judge Monroe's decision.

The question then was raised as to whether the $233,000 the county previously paid to the township for expenses of tax collectors could be considered portions of the funds to be returned to those townships. Byron was instructed to investigate the legality of the issue.

Mrs. Gladys Gregory, 65, Dies at Home

Mrs. Gladys Lorraine Gregory, 65, of 4788 Nameoki Road, was found dead at home at 10 a.m. Tuesday. She was found by her son, Charles Hester, owner and operator of Charlie's Restaurant, who had gone to her home when she failed to answer his phone call.

Born in Stewart County, Tenn., she had lived in Granite City for 31 years. Mrs. Gregory was a member of the Baptist faith and belonged to the Women of the Moose.

Her husband, Louis Gregory, died in May 1971.

Other than her son, she is survived by another son, Lynn Hester of Granite City, two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Bob) Hester of Granite City and Mrs. Joseph (Sandra) Owsley of Madison; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Donald (Lois) Adams of Granite City; two brothers, Leon Carney of Ferguson, Mo. and Maxwell "Dick" Carney of Tenn.; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Mrs. Elizabeth Straley Former Resident, Dies

Mrs. Elizabeth (Nann) Straley, 46, of 721 Regal St., Lake Charles, La., a former 44-year resident of Granite City, died at 4 a.m. Wednesday, at home.

She was a member of St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church, born in Granite City. Mrs. Straley had lived here until 1½ years ago when she moved to Louisiana.

Survivors include her husband, William Straley; one daughter, Mrs. David (Christine) Dubay of Granite City; one son, Mr. Walter (Marie) Miller and a brother Clarence Nann, both of Granite City, and two grandchildren, David and Monique Dubay.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Funeral in Iberia for Mrs. Minnie Gardner

Minnie P. Gardner, 85, of near Iberia, Mo., passed away Dec. 15 at the home of her son, Virgil Gardner, in Iberia. It was learned here this week that Mrs. Gardner was born near Iberia. She was married in June 1905 to Felix Houston Gardner, who preceded her in death March 16, 1949.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Rena Birdsong of Granite City and Mrs. Eileen Fouts of Iberia; three sons, Virgil and Charles Gardner, both of Iberia; and a daughter, Mrs. Audrey Gardner of Granite City; 12 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandson.

Funeral services were held this week in Iberia, with burial at the Livingston Cemetery.

Meeting on Regional Treatment Plan Set

A proposal for setting up a regional agency to handle East Side area water pollution problems will be discussed at a meeting Dec. 28 at 3 p.m. in the East Side Levee Hall, according to Jack Spiville, a trustee of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

The levee district, East St. Louis and the village of Sauget agreed earlier this week at an agency hearing to follow a regional approach to sewage treatment. Bi-monthly meetings to develop the program are planned.

He said Mal has spent $40,000 on engineering for the new landfill and it would be as close to pollution-free as any landfill in the nation.

Buehler continued that landfill is the cheapest, known method of disposing of waste. Alton proposed a $70,000 incinerator to burn the trash and the trash removed from the bal- lons by a court, he said. He added that methods of burning trash to produce electricity are still experimental and expensive.

Also in opposition to the landfill was the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board, which wrote a letter to Hag- nauer opposing the project.

The letter, read at yesterday's meeting, said, "The Chamber's board of directors recognizes the necessity of having a means of disposing of solid waste materials, but does not believe that expanding the existing landfill operation is a solution to the long-range problem."

"Rather, this board believes that a more suitable answer to the solid waste disposal problem would be the construction and use of an incinerator to serve the needs of the area presently being served by the Mal Landfill."

"A limited landfill would still be required to handle the residue from the incinerator, but the quantity of the residue would only be about 10% of the present landfill requirement."

The board further believes that to expand the existing landfill operation could possibly pollute the well water which supplies the residences in the vicinity of the landfill. The board does not believe that running the risk of endangering the health and welfare of individuals is justifiable under any circumstances."

About 10 residents of Chouteau Island were on hand yesterday to express disapproval of plans for expanding the landfill.

Hagauer, in declining to recognize them, said they had expressed their feelings at public meetings on the proposal and that it was time for their elected officials to speak for them.

The residents complained that their officials were not representing their views.

An attempt to delay the proposal one month by Roger Ehle of Wood River was voted down and another attempt to shorten the time span of the special use permit to 10 years and to reduce the amount of land never "got off the ground."

After the measure was defeated, Wayne Bridgewater of Roxana asked for a five-minute recess to attempt to reach agreement with at least one of the residents in opposition but Hagauer did not grant the recess.

It was reported that a proposal to allow Mal to operate will be introduced at the board's next meeting Jan. 17, calling for a 10-year special use permit on a smaller amount of land. Such a plan is likely to be approved, comments indicated.

Board members in favor of the proposal said the move to overturn the zoning approval of the County Board is probably would have been successful Wednesday if Charles F. Bode of Edwardsville had been present. Bode was hospitalized due to a sudden illness.

Mal has notified county officials that it will have to close in mid-February if the request is denied for a special use permit on 246 acres of Chouteau Island so that it can expand and continue operations.

Hagauer commented, "I do not care how much criticism I get from how I use the garbage in the streets of Granite City and I don't think any of you want it in the streets of your towns."

Carl Buehler of Granite City told the board that Mal operated the only landfill in the southwestern portion of the county and that it serves one-third of the county's population.

He said Mal has spent $40,000 on engineering for the new landfill and it would be as close to pollution-free as any landfill in the nation.

About 10 residents of Chouteau Island were on hand yesterday to express disapproval of plans for expanding the landfill.

Hagauer, in declining to recognize them, said they had expressed their feelings at public meetings on the proposal and that it was time for their elected officials to speak for them.

The residents complained that their officials were not representing their views.

An attempt to delay the proposal one month by Roger Ehle of Wood River was voted down and another attempt to shorten the time span of the special use permit to 10 years and to reduce the amount of land never "got off the ground."

After the measure was defeated, Wayne Bridgewater of Roxana asked for a five-minute recess to attempt to reach agreement with at least one of the residents in opposition but Hagauer did not grant the recess.

It was reported that a proposal to allow Mal to operate will be introduced at the board's next meeting Jan. 17, calling for a 10-year special use permit on a smaller amount of land. Such a plan is likely to be approved, comments indicated.

Board members in favor of the proposal said the move to overturn the zoning approval of the County Board is probably would have been successful Wednesday if Charles F. Bode of Edwardsville had been present. Bode was hospitalized due to a sudden illness.

Mal has notified county officials that it will have to close in mid-February if the request is denied for a special use permit on 246 acres of Chouteau Island so that it can expand and continue operations.

Hagauer commented, "I do not care how much criticism I get from how I use the garbage in the streets of Granite City and I don't think any of you want it in the streets of your towns."

Carl Buehler of Granite City told the board that Mal operated the only landfill in the southwestern portion of the county and that it serves one-third of the county's population.

He said Mal has spent $40,000 on engineering for the new landfill and it would be as close to pollution-free as any landfill in the nation.

Buehler continued that landfill is the cheapest, known method of disposing of waste. Alton proposed a $70,000 incinerator to burn the trash and the trash removed from the bal- lons by a court, he said. He added that methods of burning trash to produce electricity are still experimental and expensive.

Also in opposition to the landfill was the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board, which wrote a letter to Hag- nauer opposing the project.

The letter, read at yesterday's meeting, said, "The Chamber's board of directors recognizes the necessity of having a means of disposing of solid waste materials, but does not believe that expanding the existing landfill operation is a solution to the long-range problem."

"Rather, this board believes that a more suitable answer to the solid waste disposal problem would be the construction and use of an incinerator to serve the needs of the area presently being served by the Mal Landfill."

"A limited landfill would still be required to handle the residue from the incinerator, but the quantity of the residue would only be about 10% of the present landfill requirement."

The board further believes that to expand the existing landfill operation could possibly pollute the well water which supplies the residences in the vicinity of the landfill. The board does not believe that running the risk of endangering the health and welfare of individuals is justifiable under any circumstances."

Ice Damage on Farms Proved to Be Severe

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Extension Adviser-Agriculture
for Madison County

Ice caused severe damage to some unharvested fields of soybeans and corn last week. The amount of damage varies from one field to another.

Beans hurt most are those which were somewhat lodged before the sleet and freezing rains.

Most cornfields came through the ice storm in fairly good condition. But lodging was substantial in fields where stalks were weak from stalk rot.

Grain sorghum in the few fields not yet harvested is severely lodged. Many of the grain heads are on the ground.

Farmers harvested corn and soybeans whenever and wherever they could. But harvest progress has been very slow.

Corn harvested last week was of good quality.

Soybeans have high moisture content of about 20%. Some are damaged by mold.

High price discounts are common for high-moisture and moldy beans. But farmers with beans still in the field are more concerned about getting them harvested than they are about the price discounts.

One farmer said last week he thinks his beans still in the field will not be worth harvesting.

Farmers will harvest crops when weather permits and when the value of the crop harvested is greater than the cost of harvesting.

It's no secret that soybean, corn, wheat, hog and cattle futures prices are high by recent standards.

Future pricing or "hedging" is a way to lock in a price for future production.

One way to future-price grain is to enter into a forward contract with a local elevator. Another way is to sell futures contracts through a broker.

Future pricing can be an important marketing tool used by a farmer. The principles involved should be clearly understood before using future pricing.

Farmers are reviewing their 1972 farm business records and planning for income tax filing. It takes time to keep good business records but it pays off in the long run.

Good records increase profits by enabling one to make sound business plans and compare costs and returns.

Several Madison county farmers keep records in the Illinois Farm Record Book available at the county Extension office.

It is adequate for income tax purposes.

A complete business analysis, including the services of a field man, is available to many Madison county farmers through the Lincoln Farm Business Management Association.

Melvin Balsiers of Bethalto is president of that association, which has 1,252 cooperators in 28 Illinois counties.

Many Madison county dairy men keep herd production records in either the Dairy Herd Improvement Association or the Weigh-A-Day-A-Month program.

The highest producing herds in Madison County Dairy Herd Improvement in October were owned by Darco Holstein Farm, Willard Blase, Henry Zoetzer, Vernon Becker, Jim Beane, Marvin Stille, Leland Steiner, Mrs. Freda Linenbroeker, Eugene Meffert, George Daiber and Heepke Brothers.

The herd of Darco Holstein Farm was high for the month with 1,59 pounds of butterfat per cow per day. The Darco herd of 61 cows averaged 43.7 pounds of milk per day with an average butterfat test of 3.64.

Completing 305 days lactation with a record of 650 pounds or more of butterfat was a three-year-old cow in the herd of Manitou, Inc. with 716 pounds of butterfat and 12,251 pounds of milk.

A four-year-old cow in the herd of Vernon Becker had 710 pounds of butterfat and 15,704 pounds of milk, and a nine-year-old cow in the herd of Harold and Carl Baumann 705 pounds of butterfat and 18,458 pounds of milk.

A five-year-old cow in the herd of Marvin Stille had 698 pounds of butterfat and 18,646 pounds of milk; a three-year-old in the herd of Henry Zoetzer, 694 pounds of butterfat and 19,217 pounds of milk, and an eight-year-old with 693 and 17,786 pounds; a five-year-old cow in the herd of Don Sievers, 690 and 15,542 pounds; and a five-year-old cow in the herd of Vernon Warnercke, 680 pounds of butterfat and 18,307 pounds of milk.

County Assessing Post to Barton

James W. Barton, Granite City Township tax assessor, was named as supervisor of assessments for Madison County Board yesterday in Edwardsville, succeeding the late Dale Hill.

Barton, 48, was chosen from among five candidates who took the assessment supervisor's test this fall. Two withdrew later, leaving Barton, Lester Klenke of Edwardsville and Darby Campbell of Alton.

Barton received 20 votes for the post while Klenke had seven and Campbell one. H. Jack Frandsen of Alton, who disputed the choice, saying that the supervisor of assessments had to be chosen from among the top three in test results and Barton finished fifth.

JAMES BARTON
County Assessor

State's Attorney Nicholas Byron ruled that the intent of the statutes was for the board to choose from the top three who were available for the position. Since two of the five, Marilyn Ritchey and Margaret Hornberger, had withdrawn and only three were left, all were eligible to be selected, Byron indicated.

Barton said in his eight years of assessing for Granite City Township, he had worked closely with the assessment Board of Review with which he now will be associated.

He said the board has offered him help many times. "We have had problems in the past and will have many in the future. I ask for your assistance and advice in the future to overcome them," Barton told the board.

On Tuesday he denied knowledge of a reported Monday night Mitchell party which a Wood River member of the County Board said was held for board members.

Mrs. Fairy Laswell Dies Here at Age 72

Mrs. Fairy Pearl (Barrieklow) Laswell, 72, of 548 Chouteau Ave., Mitchell, was pronounced dead at home by Edward Werner, Madison County deputy coroner, at 10:35 p.m. Tuesday. She had been ill three years.

A 50-year resident of the Quad-Cities, she was born in Coffey, Ill. Mrs. Laswell was a member of the Mitchell United Presbyterian Church, the Ladies Circle of the church and also belonged to the Mitchell Fire Department Auxiliary.

Her husband, Earl Laswell, died in 1949. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Walter (Vivian) Blankenship and Mrs. Marion (Iona) Sparks, both of Granite City; one brother, Harry Barrieklow of Hillsboro, Ill.; eight grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Madison Invests $45,613

Madison City Council members authorized the city's initial $45,613 revenue sharing payment invested in time certificates at the First National Bank in Madison at the City Council meeting Tuesday night.

In other action, the aldermen voted to install a fire hydrant in St. Louis Maers Industrial Park, approved the attendance of two police officers at a "Crime Investigation" course at Belleville Area Junior College and authorized legal follow-through on condemnation proceedings involving three dwellings in West Madison.

Although expressing pleasure at receiving the first check from the federal revenue sharing plan, Mayor Mike Sasyk noted, however, the amount was considerably less than originally expected.

The first figure they gave was $150,000 (two payments) but they said it would amount to $130,000 and the third figure is about $80,000 for the year.

He noted the amount allocated to communities under the five-year program is determined by a complicated formula, based on population, income per capita and tax revenue.

Police Sergeant Norris Horton and Detective Paul Bargier will attend the special police investigative session at the Belleville college, scheduled to take place Jan. 22-Jan. 26.

The officers will attend on their own time and gain three-hour college credits. The $100 cost of tuition is reimbursable, the aldermen were advised.

Installation of a fire hydrant in the Cane Drive to serve the Lanter Refrigerated Distributing Co., will enable the firm to acquire insurance at reduced rates, the aldermen were informed. The cost of installation will be borne by the company, Mayor Sasyk said.

Condemnation was approved of two dwellings at 906 and 908 Jackson St., both owned by Clifton Bailey. The structures were damaged extensively by fire and are unfit to live in and they also create a nuisance in the neighborhood, the council was advised by Curtis King, assistant building inspector.

A similar condemnation complaint against James Banks, the owner of property at 922 Jackson St., was referred to the city's legal counsel. General condition of the latter building is bad, King said, adding that the house does not meet the city's safety regulations.

Inspections also will be made of a residence on Iowa St., also damaged by fire and described as dangerous to children playing around the building, and a garage in an alleyway near McCasland and Beckwith streets.

A written report concerning recreational programs will be received by aldermen at each session, Gary Novich, recreation director, said. He reported verbally that a basketball training clinic for boys 9 through 12 years who reside within the city limits of Madison, currently is under way each Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon at the Madison Junior High School.

The six-week series is being directed by Richard Bright, a teacher and assistant coach at Duplo High School. He is being assisted by Gary Lusk and Paul Lusk, both highly rated basketball players, Novich said.

Expenses from various city funds approved, include: $1,232, police department; $75, legal; $33, health and humane; $2,547, insurance; $65, refuse; $456, streets and alleys; $32, motor fuel; $1,484, salaries of special police, firemen, refuse and emergency employment; $131, department; $76, finance and accounting; $63, executive phone expense; $616, utilities; $177, buildings.

During November, a total of 35 arrests was made, including two juvenile delinquencies and 10 for traffic violations.

A total of 41 major crimes was reported, including two assaults, eight burglaries, 24 larceny-thefts and seven auto thefts.

Nine more major crimes were committed last month than in the same 30-day period in 1971. Police Chief Frank Duko advised the aldermen. He said there were 19 traffic accidents last month and nine vehicles stolen in the community.

Chlorination at Two Levee Plants Ordered

Chlorination facilities will be installed by the East Side Levee and Sanitary district at its Landowne and Cahokia Sewage treatment plants in an effort to comply with orders by the Illinois Pollution Control Board, the levee board decided in a meeting yesterday.

The meeting—the first attended by a full board of five members in nearly three years—also was marked by a board decision to advertise for bids for cleaning Harding Ditch and the Schweiberger Creek channel in St. Clair County.

The work is to be done under contract rather than through rental of equipment by the district, with the work done by district employees.

Board President, Romel Wilton of East St. Louis issued an order prohibiting levee district effort to complete the work within a 180-day directive by the employees from carrying weapons. Wilmon remarked during the meeting that "I've been shot at before and I don't want it to happen again." He declined to elaborate on the incident which he said occurred about a year ago.

Wilton at first sought passage of a resolution banning the carrying of weapons, but later changed the action to a presidential directive.

Madison County member of the board, Ebersold said the work installation of chlorination facilities will cost about $21,000 at each of the two treatment plants, according to William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, a will begin immediately in an Illinois Pollution Control Board.

Weather Delays Inventory Of Signs Along Highways

Copley News Service

Springfield—If the roads don't freeze, and the creeks don't rise, highway maintenance crews expect soon to get back to inventorying unregistered highway signs.

When they can find them, that is.

Arch Blackard, of the division of land acquisition in the state department of transportation, said inventorying work is, naturally, somewhat delayed because of the recent inclement weather conditions.

Before the blast hit, they had probably recorded the locations and in most instances the known owners, of about 12,000 to 13,000 signboards along interstate highway and federal aid primary roads in Illinois.

The figure, says Blackard, is about 25% of the total of estimated 50,000 signs which will have to come down because they don't conform to the state's new billboard rules, or because they weren't registered.

Crews have been both surprised and pleased with the response so far from people they have contacted by mail, notifying them they had 30 days to either make the sign comply, or remove it. Almost all, he said, have been complimentary to the control program.

Originally, the transportation department had hoped to begin removing non-conforming, non-registered signs right after Jan. 1, but maintenance crews who were to be used for the job must be needed for spreading salt and operating snow plows instead. If present weather conditions continue into the new year.

Meanwhile, the inventory must be finished first, and crews are reporting that in some cases, owners carefully filed applications to register their signs, but the crews can't find the signs. The signboards just aren't where they're supposed to be, and they can't be found, Blackard said.

Under the law, owners whose signs must be removed will be paid compensation, as will owners of the property where the sign was located, if the sign is registered.

The missing signs probably were either mistakenly listed for location on the application, 1500 block of Johnson Road.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Dec. 21, 1972 Page 11

Blackard said, or the owner may live some distance away or even out of state, and not be aware that for one reason or another the property owner had already removed his sign.

In any event, unregistered and non-conforming signs will hopefully start coming down about the early part of February, Weather willing.

CHRISTMAS MEETING OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Christmas meeting of Circle One, United Presbyterian Women of the First United Presbyterian Church, was held in the home of Mrs. Marion Fogle, 1664 Fourth St., Thursday.

A luncheon was served by the hostesses to those seated at a decorated table. Members seated were Mesdames Arthur Burns, Roy Hill Sr., Luis Stovroff, William McCoid, Ray Gregg, L. C. Harlan and William Gaertner.

Mrs. Gaertner gave the invocation. Exchange gifts were placed around a Christmas tree and distributed among the members during a social hour.

Mrs. Harlan, president, opened the program and a business meeting with Scripture reading. Mrs. Stovroff presented the original story of the Advent. The Book of Luke was read.

During the program, Mrs. Harlan spoke of shut-ins and the members' responsibility to them. Copies of "These Days" and "The Advent" are being sent to some of the members.

Mrs. Harlan spoke on the coming 1973 Bible study and portions are being assigned to the members. This was followed with a resume of the December yearbook of prayer, covering portions of the Southern Missouri Presbytery.

Roll call was answered with Christmas verse or Scriptures.

Mrs. Fogle closed the meeting with prayer.

YULE DINNER GATHERING
Mesdames Mabel McGee, Loretta Morris, Bea Schaffner, Ruth Canner, Elsie Canner, Lenna Williams, Marge Purcell and Rose Ritz met at Charlie's Restaurant Monday evening for a Christmas party.

Dinner was served in a private dining room at tables decorated for the event. Gifts were exchanged.

Mrs. McGee will hold the January meeting in her home. Cards were played, with prizes awarded to Mrs. Purcell, Mrs. Ruth Canner and Mrs. Mabel McGee.

Recycling Seen as Eventual Solution for Trash Solids

The quantity of solid waste generated in this metropolitan area is expected to more than double by 1980, a feasibility study on recycling solid wastes indicates.

The study indicated the St. Louis area, including Madison County, currently produces 5,100 tons of solid wastes daily and predicted this would increase to 11,000 tons by the end of this decade.

"Obviously we are facing a monumental disposal problem with our solid wastes," a spokesman said, "and we must begin now to develop adequate solutions."

The study was undertaken to determine the amount of solid wastes generated in the metropolitan area and assess the potential for recycling the waste.

According to the findings, nearly one-third of the total daily solid waste produced in the area is some form of paper, including 370 tons of newspaper and 350 tons of corrugated containers.

"We also found that St. Louisans annually dispose of 500 million tin cans," the spokesman pointed out. "This averages out at 215 cans for every person living in the area. On a daily basis, these tin cans create a waste which must be disposed of."

With landfills rapidly filling up, the study concluded that "refuse recycling will not necessarily provide a cheaper way of managing solid wastes, but it may be a better way."

"The longer we postpone recycling, the more we lose and the higher will be the costs in the future."

It was recommended that groups of industrial and commercial representatives organize to find means of developing new and expanded outlets for materials recovered from refuse.

In addition, the study suggested that manufacturing methods and product design be reviewed and revised to incorporate materials more easily recycled.

The study noted that if the quality of paper in refuse could be significantly reduced, the age of landfill sites could be extended considerably.

One possibility for disposing of paper and other combustibles is incineration with energy recovery. This could be completed with materials recovery systems when they become technically and economically feasible.

Other recommendations from the study included a suggestion that public officials and agencies provide direction and coordinate the development of a total program by defining specific problem areas and eliminating legal restrictions.

The study further recommended that existing citizen groups continue and possibly expand their efforts in informing the public of the need for expanded recycling programs and resource conservation.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY W. JONES, whose wedding took place at the West 22nd Street Baptist Church. The bride is the former Miss Cathy Fitzhugh, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fitzhugh, 3039 Sinclair St. The bridegroom is serving with the U. S. Navy.

Jones-Fitzhugh Nuptials In Candlelight Setting

Miss Cathy Fitzhugh, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fitzhugh, 3039 Sinclair St., became the bride of Seaman Larry Wayne Jones, U. S. Navy, son of Mrs. Helen Ward, 3037 Sinclair St. and Chester Jones, 3018 Denver St., Dec. 15, at the West 22nd Street Baptist Church.

Officiating at the double ring evening ceremony was the Rev. Ralph Graycraft. The altar was decorated with arrangements of large white mums, intermingled with greenery and purple accent flowers.

Purple tapers in branched candelabra, situated on either side of the altar, were lighted by Miss DeeDee Durbrow and Miss Valery Julius. Both were attired in long purple velvet dresses.

Miss Cindy Vaughn presided at the organ and accompanied the soloists, Miss Pam Doty and James Garner, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "We've Only Just Begun" and "A Time For Us."

Mr. Fitzhugh escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She chose a white Chantilly lace gown designed with fitted bodice, featuring a Sabrina neckline, and long tapered sleeves. Alternate tiers of lace and organza created the full skirt, extending into the bouffant train.

She wore an elbow-length tulle veil and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and purple streamers.

The newly-married Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a wedding trip in San Diego, Calif. Upon their return the bride will resume her studies at Granite City High School while her husband completes his second tour of duty in Vietnam.

The groom attended schools here and was graduated from Quartz Hill High School, Palmdale, Calif. He enlisted in the Navy in 1970 and is now stationed aboard the U.S.S. Constellation, presently at San Diego.

1st Christmas Musical at Johnson School

The first annual Christmas program at Russell D. Johnson Elementary School attracted capacity audiences when "The Night Before Christmas" was presented at separate performances for parents and primary and intermediate level pupils.

Colorful background settings transformed the school gymnasium into the "magical night of Christmas Eve" and included a "live" Christmas tree created with a pyramid of youthful choristers.

Solo numbers, choral presentations and a variety of skits and readings were used to bring the holiday season into focus.

Large letters, spelling the word "Christmas," were held by students who introduced different segments of the program. The nine youngsters were Kim White, Jim Boyer, Scott Berger, Jo Lynn Roberts, Gary Hadley, Michelle Morris, Paul Warren, Jenny Lance and Dale Shipp.

Donna Jones served as narrator and read a revised version of "The Night Before Christmas."

The Girls' Ensemble and choir sang selections, including "Silver Bells," "Away in a Manger," "Silent Night," "Mr. Santa," "Joyland," "Nuttin' For Christmas," "Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer," "Too Fat for the Chimney," "There's No Place Like Home for the Holidays" and "Let's All Sing a Song for Christmas."

Special segments featured Miss Dot Bailey and Bob Burns, faculty members, portraying "Rudolph," and Rodney Parchman, a sixth grade student, acting the part of a "too fat Santa."

In a sequence from the "Nutcracker Suite," a marching drill was performed by Ellen Baehr, Dean Heth, Amber Horan, Glen Lane, Clint Merchant and Loretta Myrick in the role of toy soldiers.

Soloists were Barry Reiter, Rhonda Sullivan, Pam Warren, Diane Armes and Steve Galtner. Tony James played the bells and George Hubert portrayed Santa Claus.

Miss Carole Humphrey was the program coordinator and Mrs. Betty Doyle served as accompanist.

Decorations were under the supervision of Mrs. Gail Garagay with Team III members providing the art work. Miss Bailey was march director and Al Mueller coordinated the speech portion of the presentation.

Other Johnson pupils taking part as choir and ensemble members were Karen Arnold, Terri Braswell, Terri Clements, Penny Barnes, Linda Edwards, Paula Cookson, Annie and Edwin Gerdes, Sarah Grider, Karin Halverson, Ervin Hash, Lisa Houser, Steve Huniak, Ricky Lear, Mike Lybarger, Tony Littlefield, Hank Myleart, Craig Norn, Regina Proffitt, Barry Reiter, Eddie Schilling, Georgia Taylor, Barry Temple and David Wimberly.

The cover of a program booklet describing the holiday presentation was illustrated by Jimmy Spiller, a fifth grade student.

STUCK IN CHIMNEY. A round Santa, portrayed by Rodney Parchman, a Johnson School sixth grade student, shows what can happen when the waistline girth exceeds the chimney's dimensions. In the "Too Fat for the Chimney" sequence, Rhonda Sullivan and Barry Reiter also were featured as soloists.

Comment and Analysis

Dec. 21, 1972

A Christmas Hope—'Make Us an Instrument of Thy Peace'

With the approach of the Christmas season, it seems appropriate to present the prayer of St. Francis, a friar who was devoted to service to the poor and afflicted:

Where there is hatred, let me sow love.
Where there is injury, pardon.
Where there is doubt, faith.
Where there is despair, hope.
Where there is darkness, light.

State Provides Half of Junior College Operating Costs

Comment by the Illinois Junior College Board on the 37 districts, including the non-fundamental state Community College of East St. Louis.

Illinois public junior colleges are financed by local taxes, state funds, student tuition and fees (at the option of the local board), federal aid and other revenues.

The Master Plan for Higher Education in Illinois, Phase I, suggests that the state share be approximately 50% of the average operating costs of the new junior college system.

Under the Master Plan, state support may be distributed to the institutions "by flat grant of aid and/or an equalization grant based on the relative financial capabilities of the several junior college districts."

Currently, state aid is distributed on flat grant basis of $15.50 per semester hour of credit or credit equivalency for each resident of Illinois who is in attendance at mid-term.

There is an extreme range of equalized assessed valuation (EAV) among the junior college districts of Illinois, with Chicago's $12.7 billion tax base representing the highest extreme compared with Shawnee's $165 million base, the lowest.

These ranges are partially negated when they are analyzed together as "equalized valuation per capita" (taxable wealth per person) or by analyzing on EAV per district full-time equivalent (FTE) student. This is the figure used by the IJC in computing equalizing funding.

The EAV per district FTE ranges from $735,598 at Oakton Community College to a lower figure of $117,204 at Illinois Eastern Colleges. Average EAV per district FTE for all public junior colleges in Illinois is $410,378 ($410 million assessment per 1,000 students).

Total tax rates extended (actually levied), including bond and interest and working capital, range from 10 cents (per $100 EAV) at McHenry

Where there is sadness, joy.
Oh Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console.
To be understood as to understand;
to be loved as to love.
For it is in giving that we receive.
It is in pardoning that we are pardoned.
And it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

to a high of 39 cents at Rend Lake. The median is 22.27 cents.
Education fund rates extended range from six cents at Rock Valley to 20 cents at Rend Lake, John A. Logan, Shawnee and Southeastern. The median is 13 cents.

Building fund rates have a low of two cents at Rock Valley and a high of ten cents at Lewis and Clark Community College. The median is 4.66 cents.

Total tax rates for operations (education and building funds) range from eight cents at Rock Valley to 25 cents at Highland, John A. Logan, Illinois Eastern, Rend Lake, Shawnee, Southeastern, Morton and Kaskaskia. The median is 17.45 cents.

Actual tax revenue generated per district FTE varies from $1,544 at Oakton to $342 at Belleville Area College, a difference of $1,202.
By calculating the tax revenue which would be generated using the state median tax rate of 17.45, the range is $309 at Illinois Eastern Colleges, a difference of $974.

In addition to the tax revenue generated by the local district, the state pays the district $15.50 for each credit hour except for hobby, leisure-time and recreation courses and for courses receiving 50% or more support from federal funds.

Amounts paid for flat rate apportionment grants to the junior college districts through the Illinois Junior College Board were:

1969-70—$34,300,748
1970-71—$41,925,231
1971-72—$48,000,000

Student tuition, ranging from $15 per credit hour at Rock Valley College to no tuition at City Colleges of Chicago and Illinois Eastern College, generates additional local revenue. Rend Lake and Southeastern Community Colleges also charged no tuition but have approved such charges for the future.

Better Not Cry, Santa Claus—Wrapped in Age-Old Christmas Lore—Is Coming to Town

By BETH MOHR
Copy News Service

It was the night before Christmas, 1822, that Santa Claus finally settled on his most popular image.

That's when he became a "jolly old elf" with a "round belly, that shook when he laughed like a bowl full of jelly."

Before Dr. Clement C. Moore made him a fat little man in his poem, "The Night Before Christmas," Santa could be fat or thin, tall or short.

He had a lot of different names and rode earth-bound horses before he got those high-flying reindeer and, in some places, had gift delivery dates other than Christmas Eve or Christmas Day.

He has usually kept his beard, though—except in Italy where Santa is a lady.

It's not surprising that Santa is completely white-haired. He's about 1,700 years old.

He started his career in the fourth century in Turkey, where, because of his kindness and generosity in giving gifts, he became St. Nicholas, the patron saint of children.

Even though he has had, and even today goes by, a variety of names, he still is frequently called St. Nicholas.

In the Middle Ages, he became more frivolous and from Christmas until New Year's Day was in charge of all holiday festivities.

In the spirit of fun, the Scots christened him "Abbot of Unreason" and "Lord of Merriment."

The English raised him to a higher station and crowned him "King of the Bean."

Martin Luther, religious leader in Germany in the 1600s, emphasized Christmas as the birthday of Christ and thought of the three wise men who took the Child gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

Named St. Nicholas "Christkindle" after the Christ Child, and German children believed it was he who brought gifts secretly on Christmas Eve.

The German people who settled the ocean to settle in this country about 100 years later changed "Christkindle" to "Kris Kringle," and another name Santa is still called today.

It was the Dutch people who, a long time ago, began calling St. Nicholas "Santa Claus."

The Norwegians call their Santa "Julenissen" and the lady Santa in Italy is named "La Befana."

Throughout the years, Santa has worn various kinds of clothes and his usual mode of Transportation was a horse.

In Scandinavia, where he is called a great deal and sleighs were used all winter, Santa was given his sleigh and reindeer.

And, that is where he got off the ground and learned to fly.

The Scandinavians gave Santa some of the legendary talents of the Norse god, Thor, who it was said, rode through the sky in a chariot.

The red coat was chosen as a reminder of the pagan feast of Yule.

Santa delivers his gifts at various times in different countries, although Christmas Eve is the most popular time.

In Holland, gifts are exchanged on Dec. 6, St. Nicholas' birthday.

In Mexico, Spain and Italy, presents are given on Jan. 6.

Called "The Twelfth Day of Christmas," Epiphany, and Day of the Three Kings, it is the day that the wise men presented their gifts to the Christ Child.

The first day of the New Year is gift-giving day in France and Scotland.

English children have their visits from Santa on the day after Christmas or Christmas Eve.

No matter where or when Santa makes his visits or what name he uses, he almost always stipulates that children must be good to be remembered.

IMAGE OF SANTA is wrapped in age-old Christmas lore, it is being recalled as the Dec. 25 holiday approaches. Being Dr. Clement C. Moore made him a fat, little man in his poem, "The Night Before Christmas," Santa could be fat or thin, tall or short. He had a lot of different names, and rode earth-bound horses before he got his high-flying reindeer. He has usually kept his beard, though—except in Italy, where Santa is a lady.

Names and address must accompany each letter but will not be revealed if anonymity is requested. Communications of less than 250 words will be given preference. All are subject to condensation and editorial changes. These libelous or not in good taste will be rejected or edited.

The FORUM

TRUTH—SO MAJORITY
RULE CAN MEET TEST
TO THE EDITOR:

"I have no regrets about losing the election, except for the disappointment of so many dedicated supporters who share my hope of revitalizing a basic assumption of democracy: honest political leadership that despises the easy road to popularity and insists on focusing on reality and truth, however distasteful."

It has been a hectic year. First a primary contest for governor which I narrowly lost, then after the Democratic convention I served as chairman of the McGovern campaign in Illinois.

Now I'm teaching at Sangamon State University and working on two books. One will be in February to June we will be in Cambridge, Mass., while I am a Fellow on the Kennedy Institute of Politics at Harvard. Jeanne has been active in this, as well as supervising a move to a new home in Springfield; we're keeping our house in Troy.

Sheila is eleven, likes her new school, and does well in everything. Martin is eight and received a third-place trophy in the punt, pass and kick contest for the Springfield area.

Dual Committee Chores Recalled

One of the rules of newspapering is to stay on the sidelines so that it is possible to describe and comment on the action in the arena to remain a member of the audience rather than becoming one of the participants.

I bent that rule twice this fall, but only slightly. And I'm glad I did.

I had the opportunity to serve on two committees, one dealing with possible ways of improving levee and sanitary district services and the other on potential methods of obtaining junior college services.

The first task is now largely complete, a proposed law dividing the East Side Levee and Sanitary District was passed overwhelmingly by the Illinois General Assembly on Dec. 16.

If it is signed by Governor Ogilvie, it will go into effect immediately.

Long hours of discussion were devoted to the effort to develop a bill that would be both worthy of adoption and capable of being adopted in the same thing.

Both goals proved attainable, but there was nothing automatic about it. It.

As outlined by the governor, our assignment was to evaluate legislation which was pending in the Assembly (House Bill 2416), consider other methods of accomplishing its objectives, and forward the recommendations to him in time to be considered by the November legislators.

Although laymen were involved in the attempt, we had the expert advice of a lawyer, plus a number of state senators and representatives, among whom were lawyers as well as lawmakers.

One of the chief differences in writing—between the journalistic type and the legal variety—is the aspect of brevity.

In writing for a newspaper, the goal is to be as concise as possible while avoiding any statement that could be taken two ways.

Make it clear, but no more. Each word must earn its way into a sentence—either adding further understanding or being discarded.

Clearly also is the target of legal writing. But in legislation it is achieved by endlessly until, it is hoped, no one can possibly misinterpret the meaning.

What emerged was a complicated document with many without impairing their ability to serve the original purposes.

Members of the governor's committee included Mrs. Helen Hawkins, Randall Robertson, George Becker, Paul Rutledge and John Guillou, the latter chief Illinois waterway engineer.

Among the members of the junior college study committee are Mrs. Emylee Alford, Bill Monroe, Bobby J. Davis, Mayor Mike Sausk and Paul Walter.

Its task is far from complete, but some general conclusions may be possible after legal interpretations are presented by the counsel of the Illinois Junior College Board at that board's January meeting.

The opinions dealt with possible cooperation between universities and junior colleges.

As noted, there has been a degree of participation beyond that of a sidelines spectator.

But in neither case, the levee district study group nor the community college study committee, has there been an attempt to move to the center of the stage.

The levee committee has tried, not to administer levee and sanitary services, but to make it possible for elected and appointed officials to have a fighting chance of successfully administering such services.

The public, through the power of the ballot, will be the deciding factor, not the committee.

The group reviewing junior college alternatives wants not to build or run a college but to shed light on some of the facts relating to that task.

The taxpayer citizenry, through a special election, ultimately will decide which course to follow.

In each instance there has been considerable "brainstorming," a device by which several people "think out loud" and grope their way toward a collective thought that had not yet formed within their individual minds.

But on each committee there also has been an unbelievable amount of research and data gathering, by state and local-level governmental agencies and also by committee members.

A particular touch of strength was State Senator Sam Vadala.

Whether in a game as new as Odyssey or as old as Tidbit Winslow, I'd like to have Senator Sam on my side.

All We Need for Christmas Is Heat, Light and Power

By ARCH BOOTH
Executive Vice-President,
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Winter is a good time to remember how much we take for granted, especially those of us in cold climates. Heat, Light, Comfortable, convenient transportation.

The natural gas, oil, gasoline or electricity is always there. Just flick the switch, or turn the key, and it goes.

What if, one day, it didn't go on?

What if there were no gas in the pipe, no current in the wires, no oil to be delivered, and no gasoline at the neighborhood service station?

Obviously, we are not very likely to encounter such a disastrous state of affairs. But most Americans might be surprised to learn how close we are right now to the limits of our available fuel supplies.

While we won't run out of everything all at once, we have reached the point where there will be occasional shortages of some fuels in many areas.

Why? Well, for two reasons. First, U.S. energy needs double every ten years.

Second, we have been limiting the usefulness of some key fuels on environmental grounds.

"Take electricity. It is the "cleanest" of all energy sources. But it takes heat to produce it (with the exception of hydroelectric power, which is insignificant part of the total).

The heat must come from coal, oil, gas or an atomic reaction.

mentalist because it can discharge the landscape.

Some oil is also unsuitable because of its sulfur content. Mostly, though, the problem with both natural gas and oil (and therefore gasoline) is that we are running out of them.

New sources must be discovered. More must be imported. And there are problems here, too.

Our easy-to-extract oil is already tapped. What's left is in places like the North Slope of Alaska and offshore, along our coasts.

Environmentalists oppose development of these deposits, as well as the use of super-tankers to import oil, because of the hazard of spills.

Atomic power plants are a possible alternative to the generation of electricity by fossil fuels. But, construction of these plants is being held up nearly everywhere on environmental grounds.

In most cases the objection is that the waste heat is already tapped. What's left is in places like the North Slope of Alaska and offshore, along our coasts.

mentalist because it can discharge the landscape.

Some oil is also unsuitable because of its sulfur content. Mostly, though, the problem with both natural gas and oil (and therefore gasoline) is that we are running out of them.

New sources must be discovered. More must be imported. And there are problems here, too.

Our easy-to-extract oil is already tapped. What's left is in places like the North Slope of Alaska and offshore, along our coasts.

Environmentalists oppose development of these deposits, as well as the use of super-tankers to import oil, because of the hazard of spills.

Atomic power plants are a possible alternative to the generation of electricity by fossil fuels. But, construction of these plants is being held up nearly everywhere on environmental grounds.

In most cases the objection is that the waste heat is already tapped. What's left is in places like the North Slope of Alaska and offshore, along our coasts.

Winter Spraying Will Protect Evergreens

By WAYNE B. STIEFERT
Area Extension Adviser
Ornamental Horticulture
You can prevent winter-burn on holly and evergreen magnolias by spraying the leaves with a protectant and mulching the soil.

Winter-burn is excessive drying of the leaves during cold weather and high winds. Will-Pruf or Foli-Gard reduce moisture loss by producing a plastic coating over the leaves which seals the surfaces and prevents evaporation.

Will-Pruf or Foli-Gard are liquid water-mix sprays. Two applications will provide seasonal protection. Apply in December and again in late January. Be sure to treat both sides of the leaves. The products must be applied when temperatures are above freezing. Mulching the soil prevents deep freezing and maintains root activity to provide a steady sap flow to the tips of the plants. Two or three inches of wood chips, sawdust or compost beneath the branches is adequate. A thick layer of leaves or straw is equally effective.

A windbreaker of burlap or canvas can be the final touch for winter. Fasten the material to 3 or 4 stakes or fence posts to create a half-moon or triangular shield around the base of your plant. Leave the top open.

New transplants are especially tender. Older plants that burn every year or treasured specimens on the south and west side are eligible.

Help-Givers In Need Of New Philosophy

People who visit professional help-givers—psychiatrists, psychologists, counselors, social workers and community health workers—often find they are being asked to surrender individual liberty, says Joann Chenuault, professor of education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"The power of responsibility for help has remained entrenched with the help-giver, under the assumption that by requesting professional help the individual surrenders his liberty," Prof. Chenuault says.

"Help-givers often have reasoned that by asking for help, the individual demonstrates his inability to assume responsibility for his own destiny, leaving the professional obligated to assume responsibility for him. This, implying expertise, places him in a position of psychological power over his client in a culture like ours where professional words are associated with wisdom and truth."

How help-givers affect individual liberties was discussed recently by Prof. Chenuault in Santa Barbara, Calif., at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, one of the most prestigious think-tanks in the country. Others appearing at the center have included internationally recognized psychologists B. F. Skinner, Abraham Maslow and Carl Rogers.

Like many institutions, professional help-giving tends to be confident that its doctrines are "good for all people everywhere," Prof. Chenuault says. Such absolutism sets the stage for tyranny, however well-intentioned.

Wisdom isn't a requirement for human rights," she says. "The rights of an individual in a government by consent aren't dependent on intelligence or special capabilities; people don't have to have a college degree in political science to vote on highly complex issues."

"This isn't because wisdom is irrelevant to the effectiveness of democratic institutions, but because there's a higher criterion: Whether his decisions are wise or foolish, in a libertarian system man chooses the conditions under which he'll live." Prof. Chenuault says professional help-givers have not seriously considered the question of violating individual liberties because they assume help-givers have pure motives. But, she says, a system which too easily attributes superior wisdom to help-givers opens itself to the possibility of tyranny, though it may be unconscious tyranny.

This tyranny is especially possible, Prof. Chenuault says, when one realizes that knowledge in the helping professions is not an accumulation of undisputed scientific evidence but rather consists of many sets of hypothetical truths having no more consensus than political ideologies have among politicians.

She says it would be preferable for man, with all his weaknesses, to be responsible for defining his own happiness—to be his own master.

"Of course these observations don't mean that man needs no professional help," Prof. Chenuault says. "They suggest that man can be the architect and manager of, as well as the recipient of, the services of a system. While debilitated man doesn't knock on professional doors with absolute self-responsibility, we need not assume the opposite—that he symbolizes irresponsibility."

Prof. Chenuault, who earned her doctorate at the University of Kentucky and taught at several major universities before coming to SUIU in 1969, says her conclusion is not the expected warning that professional help-giving should reform itself.

"It's rather an almost dispassionate prediction of the coming challenge to the very existence of professional help-giving as an institution in a free society," she says. "The trouble with reform from within institutions is that of all the assumptions open to challenge, one remains virtually untouched: The existence of the institution itself. Only a broader cultural challenge from outside the institution can balance the understandable personal interest of the professional in protecting a place for himself in his chosen work."

Prof. Chenuault expects the general public to seriously question the assumptions of professional help-giving, just as they are questioning institutional values across all dimensions of cultural life.

"It would be naive to predict a new world in which institutions and men achieve an ideal libertarian condition. But the coming challenge may strengthen

Vadalabene Calls for New Emphasis on Heart Research

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene of Edwardsville, 1973 Heart Fund chairman for Madison County, said today, "No one is immune from heart and blood vessel diseases, which claimed 58% of the people who died in this county last year."

"It is our intention to marshal the resources of this county as never before to fight this number one enemy of public health, and we will need the time and energies of all the volunteers we can get."

The campaign will be conducted in Madison County and throughout the nation during February which has been declared American Heart Month by Congress.

The Heart Fund chairman was elected to the Illinois Senate in 1970. He previously served two consecutive terms in the Illinois House, where he sponsored Obesity Laws Study Commission enabling legislation and was elected chairman of the commission when it was established.

He also served as a member of the House Committee to study Rural Telephone Service and of the Joint Senate-House Committee to investigate the effect of interest rates on consumer borrowing and credit purchasing.

One of seven "outstanding freshman legislators" in the 75th and 76th General Assemblies, he had a 100% attendance record.

Sen. Vadalabene is the recipient of numerous recognition awards outside the Assembly, including the 1969 outstanding citizen award of the Edwardsville Association of Commerce and Industry and the 1969 outstanding legislator award of the Illinois Association of County Superintendents of Schools.

A veteran of World War II, he served with the 29th Infantry Division in Europe, receiving the combat infantry badge, three bronze campaign stars and a Presidential unit citation.

A member of the Illinois Youth Commission Neighborhood Services program, he also is a member of the Edwardsville Park and Recreation Board and supervised that board's summer recreation program for four years.

He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, Moose, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is married to the former Miss Mary Lesko and they have raised five children in Edwardsville.

Services at Tri-City Park Tabernacle

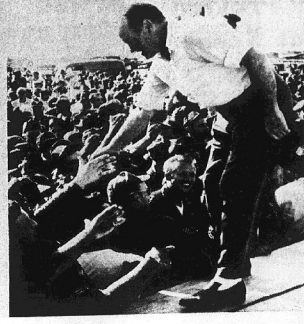

Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church, Clark Street and Maryville Road, will hold its Christmas programs Sunday morning and Sunday evening at the church under the supervision of the Rev. John Polizzi, pastor.

Sunday school will start at 9:45 a.m., followed with the program put on by all the children of the Sunday school.

The pageant will be held during the evening hours starting at 7 p.m., entitled "Why Christmas?" At the close of the pageant a pantomime of Silent Night will be put on by youth and adults of the church.

Tempestuous Stalemate May Loom Ahead at Illinois State Capitol

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service

Springfield—Illinois state government is moving into a tempestuous period unmatched in more than 30 years.

The view from the Statehouse dome is a picture of months of chaos ahead.

Not since the 1839-41 period, which saw three Illinois governors—Democrats Henry Horner and John Stelle plus Republican Dwight H. Green—has the administrative outlook for the state been so clouded with confusion.

The bitterness in the current situation may well dwarf that which marked the struggle for power in the period that followed the death of Gov. Horner.

Even worse, the troubles now so rapidly developing may persist far into the new administration of Democratic Governor-elect Daniel Walker and eventually push Illinois to the brink of major crisis.

At the Statehouse, there is already a tendency to write off Walker's first year in office as a stalemate.

There are many predictions that nothing will be accomplished.

Resentment against Walker by Republican legislators is mounting day by day.

They are angry at what they consider a rude attitude toward outgoing Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie. Ogilvie himself is known to be seething at Walker's free-wheeling activities.

The feud has broken into the open with Walker's request that Ogilvie immediately appoint state Rep. Anthony Scarsiano, Park Forest Democrat, as the new chairman of the controversially-embroidered Illinois Racing Board.

The Walker move was an especially bitter pill for Republicans because it came shortly after Senate Democrats had refused to approve 16 Ogilvie appointments to state posts.

Odds are big that Scarsiano himself will be denied approval of the Republican-controlled 1973 Senate, assuming that Walker does appoint him upon becoming governor in January.

Scarsiano, who lost out in a bid for a Senate seat in November, has never been too popular with many legislators, including some Democrats.

Although many legislators are concerned about recurring reports and investigations into scandals involving Illinois race tracks and administrations, they have doubts as to whether Scarsiano is the man to straighten out the mess.

Meanwhile, the Walker-Ogilvie feud has shattered any real hope of an orderly transition of state govern from Republican to Democrat control.

The Walker transition team has been slow to go to work and, in any event, cooperation between this group and Ogilvie's staff is expected to be extremely weak.

Some Statehouse strategists feel that Walker is intentionally antagonizing the Republicans and has no qualms about engaging in a long-term feud.

They reason that if the state does slip into stalemate and a crisis, Walker will try to blame the Republicans.

They contend this would fit in with his "populist" image and his election appeal to voters that he is "for the people" and that those who oppose him are in the camp of so-called "special interests."

Hospitals May Provide Medical Aid at Scene

A new Illinois law makes it possible for hospitals to provide highly sophisticated medical assistance to the victim of an accident or heart attack at the scene of the emergency, according to the Illinois State Bar Association.

The ISBA said Senate Bill 1571, which was passed by the Illinois General Assembly and became law late this year, permits hospitals to dispatch "mobile intensive care personnel" who are specially trained to deal with cardiac and other emergencies on the scene.

The bar group said the new emergency procedures may be adopted by the hospital as a "pilot program," subject to approval by the Illinois Department of Public Health. Reports on such pilot programs are to be made to the Illinois Legislature between 12 to 15 months after they are instituted.

Hopefully, the program will pave the way to general use of mobile intensive care personnel who may attend the sick or injured at the scene of the emergency, en route to the hospital and in the emergency room of the hospital. The idea is to provide intensive care before and until "care and responsibility can be assumed by the regular hospital staff."

The law specifically authorizes that they go beyond the usual first-aid assistance. In certain cases, the mobile emergency team may administer aid according to instructions given by a medical doctor or registered nurse with whom vehicle care is maintained, provided a telemetered electro-cardiogram is being monitored by a physician or nurse.

Another provision of the law protects medical personnel from liability for damages. It states that hospital personnel at the scene of the emergency and the physician or nurse who "in good faith" instructs the intensive-care people, shall not be liable for civil damages "as a result of issuing or following the instructions." However, such personnel remain liable for "wilful and wanton misconduct."

Intensive-care personnel are authorized under the law to resuscitation services which are common to emergency cases and to perform cardiopulmonary resuscitation and defibrillation in a pulseless, non-breathing patient.

In addition, while in voice contact with a physician or qualified registered nurse who is monitoring the patient's pulse via a telemeter, the emergency team may perform a number of services including intravenous or parenteral drug injections and stomach pumping operations.

As defined in the act, "mobile intensive care personnel" means those who have "been specifically trained in emergency cardiac and non-cardiac care" in a program approved by the Department of Public Health and who have been certified by the department to perform the services enumerated in the law.

St. John United Sets Christmas Eve Services

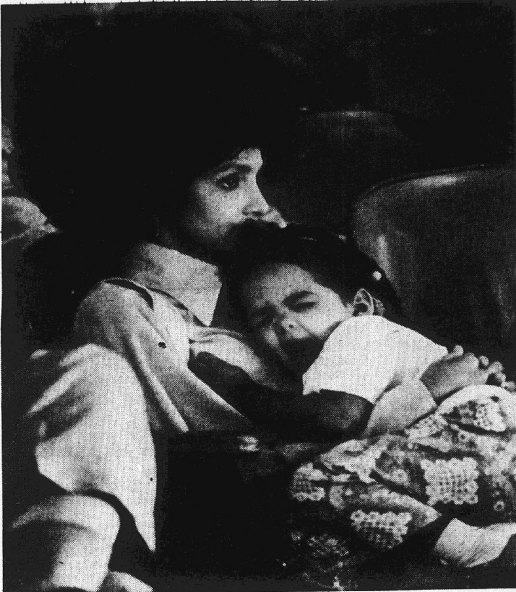

St. John United Church of Christ will hold its annual Christmas Eve Candlelight service from 10:30 to 11 p.m. on Dec. 24, opening with an organ recital by the organist, Mrs. Irene Barick.

Selections she will present are "The Virgins Slumber Song," by Edmondson; "Scorch Noel," by Bedell; "March of the Wise Men," by Gaul; "The Shepherds," by Salome; and "Christmas Hymn in March Form," by Diggle.

The Chancel choir will present three Christmas anthems, "Gloria in Excelsis," by Joley; "Sing O Heavens," by Tours; and the "Hallelujah Chorus," by Handel.

Each worshiper will be given a Christmas candle with which to participate in the Service of Light.

The annual Christmas message by the Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey will be entitled, "For Unto You is Born a Saviour."

JOYOUS TIME. Christmas will be especially heartwarming this year for Mrs. Norris Charles, wife of a Navy pilot, released by the North Vietnamese along with other American war prisoners Sept. 17. She hugs their three-year-old daughter, Kirsten, as she talks of plans for the holidays.

Michael Bazzel, 19, of 206 Kirkpatrick Homes, and a 16-year-old Kirkpatrick Homes boy were arrested at a tavern in the 2500 block of Nameoki Road at 9:30 p.m. Monday and charged with disorderly conduct. The two allegedly were fighting over an auto and gun which one youth said the other had stolen.

JUVENILE ARRESTED

A 16-year-old Granite City boy was arrested at his home in the 2000 block of Forest Avenue at 2:40 p.m. Monday and was charged with discharging a firearm in the city and having no firearm owner's identification card. He allegedly was shooting at birds from his rear bedroom window with a .22-caliber rifle.

Work Begun on Boston Church Headquarters

Members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave., have been informed that construction has begun on a new phase of their denomination's international headquarters in Boston. James O. Miller, of the Committee on Publication for Illinois, who has returned from a trip to the Christian Science Center, reported to his Granite City assistant, Charles A. Meyer, that a new entrance, designed by I. M. Pei & Partners, Architects, is being added to The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The local Christian Science Church is a branch of this church.

"More than 100,000 people from many lands come to the Christian Science Center every year, and the new open approach and central entrance will make it easier for people to visit The Mother Church," Miller said.

Rising 224 feet above Boston's Back Bay, the domed Extension of The Mother Church has been a landmark in the city for the past 66 years. The integral relationship between the Church and The Christian Science Publishing Society, home of The Christian Science Monitor, the denomination's well-known daily newspaper, will be accentuated by a new landscaped area featuring lawn and trees.

Needed facilities provided by the new entrance or portico will include more space in the vestibule and two large elevators to take visitors to the auditorium and first two balconies. The new construction is expected to take two-and-a-half years to complete.

The new Church Center is visited annually by members from Granite City and surrounding communities during the time of the denomination's annual meeting in June of each year. Members of the local church will have an added interest in the new Church Center because of the interest the new center has sparked among members of other churches interested in learning more about the growth of Christian Science.

SIUE Anthropologist Studies Crow Indians

Fred W. Voget, professor of anthropology at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, lived among the Crow Indians of Montana this summer as part of his continuing investigation into their kinship relationships. Voget's study of traditional Crow society began at Lodge Grass, Mont., as a graduate student. Since then, he has learned much of their language, has become friendly with a number of individual Crow Indians, and is Godfather to a young Crow.

On his most recent visit he documented changes in the traditional kinship system. Increasingly, he said, the culture of the Indians is changing as a result of the education their young people receive.

Voget said one example of the changes being undergone relates to the kinship avoidance system. "A man isn't supposed to talk to his mother-in-law," he said, "nor to say any word in Crow that has a syllable that is found in her name."

"I know of a chap there," Voget said, "who for 38 years, until she died—she lived in the same dwelling—he never said one word to his mother-in-law. She turned out to be a long-lived person, over a hundred years old," he said.

He contrasted this with another case, "the son of a fellow named Pretty-on-Top. This young chap had married and was living with a rather conservative family. After about a year, they were eating around the table one time, and he said in effect: 'Enough of this nonsense—I'm going to talk to my mother-in-law.' It's this sort of thing that's happening—people are beginning to challenge the traditions of Crow society."

(Voget added, "I don't know if there's any relationship" — the young man was later divorced from his wife.)

The anthropologist said that

State Plans Intensive Drive for Foster Homes

Copley News Service

Springfield — Your next child may already be in the first grade.

That's the approach the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services will be using early next year when it starts an intensive campaign to find adoptive homes for older children.

Though the "hard to place" child may be found anywhere in the state, there are larger concentrations near major metropolitan areas like Chicago and East St. Louis. In Chicago in mid-November, for instance, there were 73 children legally free for adoption, and another 615 who would be once some court action is taken.

At East St. Louis the figures in the same period were 22 immediately available and 45 others who could and probably soon will be available.

Nearly all these youngsters already are of school age. More than half of them are black. There are far more boys than girls.

Though "hard to place" has been used to describe them, just don't know yet that they are adoptive parents.

If the department's campaign comes off right, they're going to know it soon. Highlight of the program will be "Black Adoption Week," probably in late January or in February.

The new program will call attention to youngsters like a nine-year old motherless farm youngster whose father violently rejected him after the boy accidentally burned down the barn. Or a pair of girls, both six, who have been reared together from infancy in the same foster home and are close as twins, who will be overwhelmed unless they can be placed together in the same adoptive home.

The new attention to finding homes for older children is an outgrowth of earlier department success in placing another group of "hard to place" youngsters—infants of minority races, or mixed-race backgrounds.

That program has been so successful that in the last three years or less, such children—normally healthy and normal—can now be placed almost as fast as they become available.

Before this happy turn of events, many of today's "waiting" children grew through and out of the cuddly infant stage, and their's are now the most pressing problems.

One thrust of the new campaign will be for wider understanding of the subsidy system, which lets the department provide some financial aid even after adoption is final. In some cases, says Don Schlosser, administrator of the department's office of community relations, the subsidy is just enough to cover adoption costs or legal fees the family otherwise couldn't handle.

Other times, it lets a family take a child with physical or mental problems requiring expensive treatment they couldn't otherwise afford. By law, subsidies must be less than the department would pay for foster care.

Special attention will be paid to informing black families of subsidy possibilities. Since more than half the older "waiting" children are black, the state has received a three-year federal grant for a special project titled "Utilization of Subsidies to Increase Black Adoptions."

The funds are used primarily for application interviews, home studies and actual placements. Until now, Schlosser said, nearly all subsidized placements have gone to foster homes, permitting the child to remain where he already had roots. The new program will seek to find families which never had foster children and never thought of adoption, and convince them they should think of it, he said. It is estimated each adoptive placement saves the state $3600 to $6000 each year from foster home care.

College Enrollment Still Rising, But at Slower Pace

By RAY SERATI

Copley News Service

Springfield — A report to the Illinois Board of Higher Education shows that the enrollments at institutions of higher learning did continue to grow this year, but at a lesser pace than previously was anticipated.

The report for the Board of Higher Education covers enrollments at both private and public institutions. This is the second year in a row that enrollment figures for the institutions reflects a slowing down of students rushing to the college campuses. Undoubtedly if this keeps up it might reflect in the amount of state funds being expended at the public institutions for new campus buildings and instead using the funds for remodeling work.

Presently the student enrollment figures for the private and public colleges and universities stands at 459,000. The figures come from 13 universities, 48 public junior colleges and 98 nonpublic schools.

Junior college enrollments show an increase in their totals. The junior colleges, which now virtually cover the state, reflect an increase in enrollment of some 8.6%, up some 15,348 students. Freshman and sophomore levels at the senior colleges do reflect a downward trend. This might be the reason for the increase in the junior college enrollments.

The report shows that in the private college sector there is a slight decrease in student enrollment this year. Last year there was a slight increase.

Overall, the report said, there is about a 2.3% increase this year in the enrollment of students in public senior and junior colleges and in the non-public area. This compares with a 2 to 3% increase nationwide.

Officials of the Board of Higher Education point out that the enrollment figures are about 6,000 students less than was anticipated. The board has been keeping close tabs on enrollment figures at the institutions of higher learning throughout Illinois.

Removing Wax and Stains A Post-Holiday Chore

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser—Home Economics
University of Illinois
Urbana-Champaign

Christmas is the candle season. But all too often the wax from the candles remains when the holiday season ends.

To remove candle wax from wood furniture, scrape away as much as you can using a stiff card, smooth stick or your fingernail. Wash off the remaining wax using a cloth dampened with mild, warm soapsuds.

If that method does not remove the wax, moisten a cloth with cleaning fluid and wipe the soiled area. Polish the furniture to restore its original appearance.

If the candle wax is on a tablecloth or piece of fabric, use a dull knife to scrape away as much of the wax as possible. Then place the stain between two pieces of white blotting paper or paper towels and press with a warm iron.

Keep changing the paper as it absorbs the wax. Sponge away the final traces of the stain with cleaning fluid.

If the candle was colored and a dye stain remains, sponge the stained area with alcohol diluted with two parts of water. Then rinse the stained area with water.

Greasy holiday stains may ride right on through the weekly laundry and still remain on the fabric.

If you still see the stains, they probably fairly well set by then. Although some grease stains wash out with regular laundry, it's best to pretreat them first. Begin with simple methods of pretreatment.

Wool liquid detergent, shampoo or paste of laundry detergent into the stain. Let the spotted article stand approximately 30 minutes, and then wash it in the usual manner.

Often you'll need special patience to remove stains from modern man-made garments with their special finishes. Instead of scrubbing, bend the fabric to work the detergent into the stain. Vigorous rubbing may change the color or appearance of the fabric.

If the stain persists after washing, try a grease solvent. Place the stained side of the fabric against a blotter of paper toweling. Next, working from the underside of the garment, sponge the stain thoroughly with the solvent.

Because fumes from grease solvents may be toxic, and flammable, use them only in a room with adequate ventilation and well away from open flames. And keep small children away from the work area. Many of the fumes are heavier than air and may affect your child more than you.

Sometimes, yellow stains appear after a solvent treatment if age or heat has set the original stain. To remove this stain, use a bleach that's safe for the fabric.

Ceramic Engineering Scholarship to Gac

Scholarships and grants received by 29 ceramic engineering students in the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign were announced this week by Prof. Arthur L. Friedberg, head of the UIUC department of ceramic engineering.

Fifteen scholarships are from a general fund supported by the ceramic industry. Others are from grants by specific industries or gifts to the university. Most were awarded on a basis of scholarship and professional promise.

Recipients include Frank D. Gac, 2641 Washington Ave., Granite City, a senior, who has been awarded the Champion Spark Plug Co. scholarship. "The demand for ceramic engineers continues high," Friedberg said. "Only 18 colleges in the nation offer training in ceramic engineering, and they cannot fill the need for men and women trained in the field."

Long Lines Foreseen But Can Be Avoided

Southern Illinois University students registered for winter quarter classes may face standing in long lines unless they pay tuition and fee charges before the Jan. 4 deadline.

K. K. Hacker, SIUE bursar, says 9,000 students have registered for classes, but only 2,500 have paid tuition and fees.

An additional 2,000 students are expected to register for winter classes, increasing the likelihood of long lines at tuition payment windows.

The bursar's office will be open from 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the quarter break.

covers a broad range from nuclear reactors and electronic devices through aerospace materials, new materials for homes and materials for medical applications, to catalytic devices to reduce air pollution.

Some of the scholarships and grants are to students entering the university from high school or from junior colleges, and others to students continuing at UIUC.

Summer Study In Ireland Is Being Offered

Qualified students will have an opportunity for a six-week summer term of independent study in the Republic of Ireland in a program sponsored by Eastern Illinois University, Charleston. Dates for the project are June 18-Aug. 2, 1973.

Any junior, senior or graduate student in good standing from an American institution of higher learning who is recommended by the head of one of the following academic departments at Eastern is eligible to participate.

Anthropology, Sociology, Economics, English, History, Political Science, Theater Arts and Zoology.

Dr. Rex Syndergaard, director of the Ireland Studies Program, said currently employed teachers interested in further graduate study are eligible to participate in some departments.

Each student in the program will work on a research project chosen by him and approved by the participating department at Eastern. There will be no regularly scheduled class meetings during the five-week study period in Dublin.

There would be ample opportunity for students to travel in the Irish Republic and the United Kingdom at their own expense.

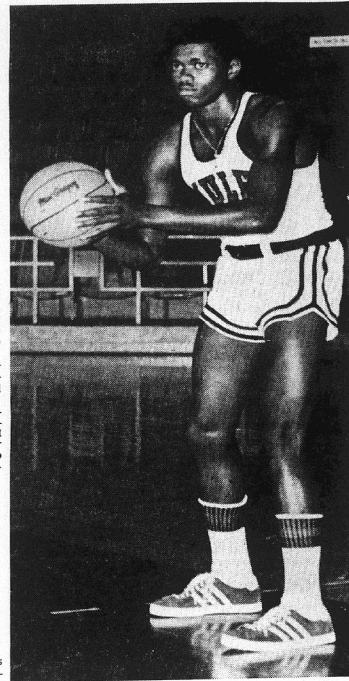

Excluding personal expenses and additional travel, the estimated cost of the trip will be $855. This includes $105 for tuition, $255 round trip group fare between New York and Dublin, and an estimated $150 for room and board.

Syndergaard said it is possible that the trip might originate from Chicago, depending on the locality of most of the applicants.

Upon the successful completion of the research project, not later than Jan. 4, 1974, students will receive six semester hours credit from Eastern.

At the end of the five-week residence in Dublin, arrangements can be made for the student to visit other countries in Europe at an additional cost.

Application forms and complete information may be obtained by contacting the International Studies Committee, Director in Residence, Ireland Studies, 218 Old Main, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Ill.

INJURED PLAYER. Bill Cannon, a graduate of Madison High School, has been ruled out of basketball season at Central Missouri State University in Warrensburg this season due to a broken thumb. He transferred to CMSU from Wabash Valley Community College in Mount Carmel, Ill. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cannon, 191 Viola Jones Homes, Venice.

Busiest Christmas Ever at University Post Office Here

Realization by an increasing number of people that Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has its own post office has meant the busiest Christmas season ever, says post office supervisor Delbert Varble.

"We'll have sold 30,000 special Christmas stamps by the end of this week," Varble said. "We have a heavier volume of mail than we've ever had because people are learning where the post office is on campus."

Varble said handling holiday mail in a room of the General Office Building at SIUE is more complicated than at many larger post offices because of the international mail. "Domestic mail is based on the ounce, but international mail sent by air is based on the half-ounce," he noted.

Professor Is Studying Attitudes Toward Aged

A psychology professor from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has completed a study of female college students and their mothers which indicates the mothers expressed more favorable attitudes toward elderly people than did their daughters.

Anthony Traxler is presenting his findings this week at the 25th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society in Puerto Rico. Others speaking at the meeting include U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., chairman of a Senate subcommittee on aging, and renowned anthropologist Margaret Mead.

In his presentation "Attitudes Toward Old People as a Function of Dogmatism," Traxler reports conclusions drawn from data gained by using a dogmatism scale and a sentence completion form.

Traxler hypothesized that high dogmatic (close-minded) subjects would express more negative attitudes toward old people than would low dogmatic (open-minded) subjects, since close-minded persons would tend to view old people as an outside group in which they did not have membership.

On the other hand, low dogmatic subjects were predicted to be more tolerant of age groups in which they did not have membership.

It was further hypothesized by Traxler that dogmatism would increase with age and that there would be a significant correlation between mother-daughter dogmatism scores and their attitudes toward old people.

"The findings indicated mothers were significantly more dogmatic than their daughters, but expressed somewhat more favorable attitudes toward old people," Traxler said.

"Moreover, the relationship between dogmatism and attitudes toward old people wasn't significant. The results indicated dogmatism was age-related but wasn't a significant factor in differentiating attitudes toward old people."

Traxler, who came to SIUE in 1968, has made aging one of his primary interests in the field of psychology.

expensive those cards can be—costs 21 cents each half-ounce. When some people learn their card will cost 84 cents to mail, they'll clip off a corner to make it lighter."

Varble said the SIUE post office will help people wrap packages—"It's a service we don't have to offer, but we try to give people extra help during slack periods in the mid-morning or mid-afternoon. We keep boxes on hand for students needing to send packages home."

There will be a lot of last-minute mailing this week, Varble said. Throughout the week, he believes, Christmas mailing will be heavy.

The SIUE post office has three full-time workers (Varble, foreman Dennis Harper and distribution clerk Art Goebel) and 15 student workers. In addition to special Christmas service, they offer other services to the university community.

"By the first of the year we'll have federal income tax forms and Illinois forms," Varble said. "Our Missouri income tax forms are available already."

Other services include carrying airmails—letter forms that can be sent anywhere in the world for 15 cents—and issues of commemorative stamps for the approximately 50 serious stamp collectors on campus.

Five GC Students in College Who's Who

Connie Dockery Becomes Mrs. Robert F. Morgan

Miss Connie Sue Dockery, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dockery, 2215 Ohio Ave., and Robert F. Morgan, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Lawrence Morgan Sr., 4840 Carl St., were united in marriage Dec. 16 at the Rosewood Heights Assembly of God Church in Alton.

Mrs. Sharron Hatcher sang "I Love You Truly" and "Whither Thou Goest" preceding the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Michael Adams.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace gown over tulle, fashioned with a sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The very full skirt was designed with scalloped lace tiers that extended into a chapel train.

She wore a bouffant shoulder-length veil and carried a cascade of red roses and greenery.

Mrs. Linda Petts, matron of honor, a sister of the groom, was attired in a pink gown and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Judy Shemwell and Mrs. June Miller, both sisters of the bride, appeared in green frocks. Each attendant held a bouquet of red roses.

The groom's sister, Hallie Morgan, was flower girl and was gowned in a white lace dress. She carried a miniature bouquet of pink carnations.

Attending the groom as best man was William Petts, a brother-in-law. Groomsmen were Dennis and Benny Morgan, both brothers of the groom, and Lawrence Morgan Jr., another brother, was the ring-bearer.

Mrs. Dockery, the bride's mother, chose a brown dress complemented with a white carnation corsage and the groom's mother wore a light blue ensemble with a blue carnation corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Granite City High School and is employed at Cass Bank in St. Louis. Mr. Morgan is a student and works for Mercer ambulance service.

They are residing in Granite City.

Maryville Students Aid Nursing Home Residents

Students at Maryville School planned a different way to celebrate Christmas this year by donating money they would have spent on exchange gifts to buy materials to make special gifts for the senior citizens residing at the Madison County Nursing Home.

The pupils also paid to rent a bus that took three representatives from each grade level to the nursing home on Tuesday to distribute the gifts and sing Christmas carols under the direction of Ken Jones, music teacher at the school. They left school at 9 a.m. and returned at 11:30 a.m.

"Sharing Is Giving" was the topic for the theme of the holiday project which involved each teacher at the school. Some also contributed their own funds, and assisted the teachers.

Among the items made in the classrooms were Christmas cards, popcorn decorations and various tree ornaments made of plastic and paper, marshmallow snowmen, table centerpieces of pine cones and candles, kleenex holders, calendars, jewelry boxes and crates of oranges and apples.

Accompanying the group on the bus were Mrs. DeDe Hodges, Ken Jones, Mrs. Carol Hornback, all teachers at the school, and Mrs. Kay McCrane, vice-president of the school PTA.

A musical Christmas program with each grade level participating was given under the leadership of Ken Jones, music teacher, with a variety of holiday songs and original poems by the students.

Attending the annual holiday evening was over 350 parents and guests. After the program, refreshments were served and a short PTA business meeting held.

Late Lloyd 'Curly' Harris Honored by State Senate

A resolution in honor of the late State Rep. Lloyd "Curly" Harris of Granite City, who served 16 terms in the Illinois House, was adopted by the Senate during its session which ended during the weekend at Springfield.

The resolution, introduced by State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), said:

Whereas, The members of the Senate of the Seventy-Seventh General Assembly have learned with deep regret of the death of our former beloved colleague in the General Assembly, the Honorable Lloyd "Curly" Harris, representative from Granite City, Ill., for 16 terms; and

Whereas, Representative "Curly" Harris, as he was affectionately called, was born in Montpelier, Ind., in 1885, from which he moved, at the age of 5 years, to Granite City, Ill., in the politically prestigious Madison County, where he spent the rest of his very fruitful life of service, 32 of which years he served the people of his community, the State of Illinois, and all mankind, as the highly effective legislative representative of the successively denominated 47th, 53rd and 55th representative districts—the also won re-election to the House when he ran state-wide in the "at large" election of 1966; and

Whereas, The representative district he served so long and so outstandingly also sent the former senator and present Lt. Governor Paul Simon to serve in this chamber after he had served in the House chamber with Representative Harris for several terms, which gave us in the Senate a more personal relationship with Representative "Curly" Harris; and

Whereas, He was considered an expert in fiscal matters and one of the most influential legislators in Illinois governmental history, rising to head the powerful House Appropriations Committee and he always received widespread respect for his fellow members of the House whether he supported or opposed the legislation being deliberated; and

Whereas, He played a major role in causing much needed highway and community improvements as well as in obtaining the $5 million bond issue by which the General Assembly created the Edwardsville Campus of Southern Illinois University; and

Whereas, He was a member of Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, the American Legion, Forty and Eight Society, VFW, WWI veterans' posts and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, which organizations reflect his

Dr. Kenneth Beach Keeps Busy Wearing Three Hats

Dr. Kenneth Beach, a faculty member of the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine, is viewing education from a student's desk as well as from a teacher's lectern. Beach, 45, is working on a master's degree in chemistry at SIU at Edwardsville during the hours he is not teaching at the dental school campus in Alton or seeing patients at his private practice in Jerseyville.

Beach is not alone in his desire for more knowledge—education has become a family affair for himself, his wife Dorothy and their three children. Mrs. Beach, a registered nurse and certified dental assistant, is working on a bachelor's degree in history at SIUE. Their son David is a senior majoring in geology at the University of Illinois and a daughter, Susan, is doing graduate work in library science at

Phyllis Diller: She's Come A Long, Long Way, Baby

By BOB HOPE
Copley News Service

I'll never forget the day I met Phyllis Diller. How could I? That would be like Napoleon forgetting Waterloo, or Ford forgetting Edsel.

Life is funny, the pleasant days, the moments of joy slip away, but a real catastrophe stays with you.

It started out as a day like any other day. There were no thunderclouds on the horizon, no ominous warnings in my horoscope.

I was visiting our nation's capitol — not the one in Texas — the one in Washington, D.C. — the real Camp Runamuck.

And you know what it is after you've spent a day at our nation's capitol, you want to forget. So I stopped in at a little nightclub which advertised a "Phyllis Diller."

At that time, I must be honest, I didn't know what a Phyllis Diller was.

A Cigarette Holder

I could see quite clearly that there was a cigarette holder with something attached to it. I also knew that whatever it was made me laugh. That's the fantastic part of her act. You don't know whether it's what you see or what you hear that breaks you up. She doesn't know whether to pay her writers or sue her dress designer.

How can I describe this unidentified flying object. At her very best she looks like something that had slipped thru a hole in a poverty pocket.

At her worst, a Warhol mobile of spare parts picked up along a freeway. Her figure, if I may use the word loosely, is that of a dwarf azalea bush that has been pruned by a Japanese gardener who is still sore about Pearl Harbor.

Cover Girl

I have at various times referred to Phyllis as the "Liz Taylor of the Twilight Zone," "Miss Lower Slobovia," "The Cover Girl of Popular Mechanics" and as "Maiden-form's Answer to Twiggy."

All of these statements are pure unadulterated flattery. I have been accused of being a ham. Jack Benny has been accused of being a ham. We are shy... we are blushing interverts when it comes to Phyllis. Now, there is a ham. She is solid pork from the point of her head to the tip of her toes... all eleven of them.

There is a girl who takes a bow every time somebody turns a faucet on. She works to telephone booths. She has a spotlight in her hair dryer. That, incidentally, is what they do with her hair... they dry it after they rake and mow it... and then they wrap it in cigarette paper and sell it to people who are trying to break the habit.

Incidentally, there were once some rather weird explanations concerning the Diller hairdo, electrocuted and the seat belt broke. It is not true that she once raised hair for the late Senator Dirksen.

It is not true that her follicles were attacked by termites. Phyllis was with that hair and when the doctor saw her he slapped her right in the mouth and never practiced again.

The last house call he made was to the Menninger Clinic. My first mistake was signing Phyllis up for an appearance on my comedy specials. What choice did I have? She wanted to do live television and Zoo Parade was booked for the year.

To say the least, she was a hit. She's been back four times and now gives me credit for discovering her. That is utter rot. I just opened the broom closet and there she was.

Bought a House

We made three movies together and now Phyllis insists I made her a movie star and to show her thanks she bought a big house and named a room after me. I still haven't gotten up enough courage to ask her "which room."

What worries me is that there doesn't appear to be any way to stem this avalanche. She does night clubs and concerts, and recently she's writing a book of household hints.

On second thought maybe this is the only thing she's done that makes sense. Who else could give advice on such scintillating topics as: 25 ways to slice gravy, how to recap your own sneakers, how to upholster a sofa from the inside, how to dress a chicken (complete with patterns), and how to clean house with one match.

Yet, all things considered, I am grateful for my association with Phyllis Diller. Let the apples have their psychobelic nightmares. I've got mine right here on earth.

One of Greatest Christmas Gifts Ever--the Transistor

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

"Not only will atomic power be released," predicted the inventor Thomas Alva Edison in 1922, "but someday we will harness the rise and fall of the tides and imprison the rays of the sun."

What Edison envisioned 50 years ago has, of course, come true. The Apollo spacecraft, for example, captures the rays of the sun and transforms them into power for the command module.

However, neither the manned space program nor the multiple generation of sophisticated computers would have been possible without one miracle of the human mind 25 years ago.

Not far from where Edison worked and gave to humanity his many works of genius are Murray Hill, N. J., laboratories of the Bell System.

It was there on Dec. 23, 1947, two days before Christmas, that a trio of inventors unlocked the secrets of the natural law of electricity.

This set into motion a revolution as far reaching and as unpredictable as Edison's invention of the electric light.

The miracle of the mind was the invention of the transistor.

On its silver anniversary, the transistor still goes unrecognized as one of the greatest Christmas gifts ever given to humanity.

No area of our lives in the last quarter-century has remained untouched by the transistor: communications, defense, business, pleasure and a multitude of personal ways we now take for granted.

The trio, celebrated, was awarded the 1956 Nobel Prize in physics for the work.

All three had originally had as their goal merely to find a replacement for the bulky vacuum tubes for the telephone system which, prior to 1947, required expensive equipment difficult to maintain and of enormous size.

If the invention remains unrecognized as the greatest Christmas gift ever given to humanity, the long and complex chain of events during the last quarter-century and the minds that applied the transistor to many areas of our life also remain unrecognized.

Especially the many thousands of minds working cooperatively and free of coercion in the many industries of American business.

The 25-year process illustrates the working partnership between the businessman and the inventor who, together, have made possible larger and positive ends for all men.

Like the transistor itself, "unearned dividend" when freedom of the mind is allowed to flourish.

In churches all over the country this Christmas, Americans should light a special candle to those three wise men of the mind and to the American businessman who in the last 25 years made possible this most positive of revolutionary Christmas gifts to our world.

Garage Burglarized

Tools, a television, a power mower and two fire extinguishers, valued at $65, were stolen from the garage of Thomas Kulbach, 2002 Bryan Ave., it was reported at 7:55 a.m. Tuesday.

street repairs, rabies control, sharing a health officer, drainage and other cooperative ventures.

"Pontoon Beach is in Nameoki Township and we only want what is best for the people of our township," including Pontoon Beach," Whittell explained after one of the meetings.

Although Elliott's party has not begun an organized campaign, it is expected that a heated campaign between the two groups will take place between now and April with charges aired by both sides.

Moss this week charged that Whittell chose Elliott, Luchini and Younger because they are or have been employees of Nameoki Township's rabies control officer.

Whittell says neither Elliott nor Luchini are township employees but one has been used as a substitute truck driver. Moss refutes this and says he has proof that both were employed all summer as mosquito abatement control officers.

The VIP candidate further charged that Whittell asked the board to annex his home into the village this year so that Whittell could take a more active role in the village politics. The annexation took place in August.

"He is having enough trouble running the township without trying to run the village," Moss said.

Moss Heads Ticket For Pontoon Beach Election

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Floyd David Moss, chairman of Nameoki Township's Democratic precinct committee, announced Tuesday that he will seek the post of president of the Pontoon Beach Village Board in the April village election.

Moss, who has been quietly campaigning since November, formally announced his decision to seek election on the Village Improvement Party (VIP) ticket.

The election will be held April 17.

Others who will run on the ticket are Paul Bennett, Don Ray and Ray Gaudette Jr., all seeking posts as trustees. Bennett, a service station operator, also is a volunteer fireman with the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department.

Ray is a member of the village zoning board and Gaudette is the committeeman for Nameoki Precinct Nine. Moss is the Nameoki Precinct One committeeman.

The president, three trustees and a village clerk are to be elected. The VIP party has not announced its choice for the clerk's post.

The board positions are expected to be vacant as the present village board president, Otto O. Kreher, and Trustee Don McNew have announced they will not seek re-election. Two other trustees, Fred Recer and Carl Hackney, have indicated they do not plan to run in April.

The VIP party is expected to be opposed by the Civic Improvement Association (CIA) group and Tom Elliott is expected to head that ticket. Expected trustee candidates are William Luchini, a former village volunteer policeman, and Gil Younger and Harold McBride.

Of those presently on the board, Kreher and Hackney are expected to be re-elected.

Excessive Government Spending, Intervention, Manufacturers Told

"There are unlimited capabilities of a nation when there is private ownership of its economic resources and a competitive market wherein the consumer sets the standard."

"The most critical task facing America and all who believe in the wisdom and strength of our system is to make certain these elements remain a central part of our society," Edwin H. Gott, chairman of U.S. Steel, made the 79th annual dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association during the weekend in Chicago.

An audience of 1,500 manufacturers and civic leaders heard Gott point out key political and economic decisions facing Americans in 1973.

"Buoyed by the economic successes of the past, there has been a tendency to overpromise for the present, and to overpromise for the future," Gott said.

On the political side, it has certainly been a period of government activism — with costly programs designed to resolve a multitude of real and exaggerated problems, in the mistaken belief that there is nothing wrong with America that higher spending can't solve.

"We had better keep in mind the fact that government spending at all levels now equals fully a third of our gross national product — and the end is not in sight," Gott continued.

There is real danger, he said, in "what we are committed to spend in the years ahead."

Gott said the American ideal of everyone enjoying the highest possible level of freedom, both in private actions and economic activities, has been seriously compromised.

"Whether it is hiring employees or paying them, whether it is operating our plants or selling the products they produce in the market place, whether it is a domestic transaction or foreign," Gott said, "there is always at least one government agency taking part in the decision."

In light of this substantial incursion of government into business decisions, Gott wondered "whether the growing anti-business sentiment is the result of things 'business has done to the consumer' or because of things 'government has done to business.'"

In response to cries of a pollution crisis that is blamed on business, Gott said, "The machinery of government has cranked out a production of anti-pollution laws, some of which are without scientific basis."

"These laws are saddling industry with costs that are already straining financial resources and affecting our competitive position in the world trade."

The business world, and some people in government, recognize that the most vital goal for this country is to increase the efficiency of the national economy, he said.

"It is the only way to enable continued growth with minimal inflation — the only lasting answer to foreign competition — the only way to make good on our social commitments without overtaxing our national resources."

A serious drain on the economic strength of this country, Gott emphasized, are wasteful practices found in the largest national industry — construction — which he said literally touches the pocketbook of every citizen and every company in America.

"Here is an industry that has been whipsawed by the power of building trades into a succession of contracts that have sent wage rates soaring while productivity has actually declined," Gott asserted.

In striving to maintain "the stranglehold of power that building trades have had on this nation's construction industry. They have resorted to attacks on private property in many parts of the country," he said.

"Such use of force — the resort to destruction of another's property to shut down those who disagree with them — is un-American and so are the economic results. This nation can no longer tolerate the enforced squandering of capital funds for no better reason than to shore up the power of a few leaders."

"Every element of American business is facing a similar situation under the Occupational Health and Safety Act of 1970. In its first year, the new federal regulatory agency created by this Act laid down 15,000 regulations — and they're on their way to doubling this number," the executive said.

"The costs to industry of complying with all of these rules may well run into many billions of dollars."

Illinois Teacher of Year To Be Named

The Illinois teacher of the year will be named from among 42 candidates at an awards banquet in January in Springfield, State Supr. Michael J. Bakalis has announced.

Bakalis said the names of four runners-up also will be announced at the banquet to be held at the Holiday Inn East. Certificates of excellence will be presented to each of the award winners.

The 42 nominees for the teacher of the year were selected by superintendents of educational service regions throughout the state for their talent for inspiring the love of learning in children. All are teachers of pre-kindergarten through grade 12 classes at state-approved or accredited schools and all 42 play active and useful roles in their communities.

Since early November a selection committee comprised of students, representatives of state educational organizations and staff members of the Illinois Office of Public Instruction have been evaluating the candidates.

Illinois' teacher of the year automatically will qualify for consideration as the nation's most outstanding teacher. The national award, won twice (1954 and 1968) by Illinois teachers during the 20-year history of the contest, will be decided in mid-February.

Both the state and national contests are designed to call attention to the contribution of the classroom teacher, according to Bakalis.

Schools Schedule Christmas Holidays

Venue school students who had been looking forward to a Christmas vacation starting Wednesday will be required to attend classes through Thursday with their vacation beginning Friday, the Venice Board of Education announced Monday night.

The reason: Lack of sufficient "off days" in the school calendar to allow for inclement weather or other emergencies.

Other Quad-City Schools including Granite City public schools, St. Elizabeth, St. Margaret Mary, Sacred Heart and St. Joseph, all of Granite City, and St. Mary's in Madison, will dismiss on Friday.

All Madison schools will dismiss classes on Thursday. Students of all schools will return to their respective schools on Jan. 2.
